The heat and drought will continue for another 24 hours at least, broken only by local showers, forecaster C. A. Donnel announced here. Rain may bring some relief to the arid states, according to Donnel.

Extreme heat and dry southwest winds heightened the damage already done to grain crops, pasturage and truck crops yesterday, throughout the middle west.

PLAN ARMS EMBARGO ON WARRING REPUBLICS

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

(Copyright, 1934, By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 18.—This government will shortly move to declare an embargo against the shipment of arms and munitions to the warring republics of Paraguay and Bolivia, it was learned on high authority today.

President Roosevelt believes the time has arrived when this nation should clean its hands of any allegations that it is benefitting in any way from the South American dispute.

Not only is this government prepared to co-operate with the league of nations in an international embargo, but it is possible the United States may lead the way by acting independently even before the league plan goes into effect.

Although it is hoped the Latin nations surrounding Paraguay and Bolivia will co-operate by declaring a similar embargo, consideration is being given to the possibility of this government acting even in advance of that cooperation both for the moral effect of such action and in the hope of spurring those nations to follow suit.

Urge Abolition Of Food Order System At Workers Meeting

Abolition of the present food order system and the installation of a commissary system was urged Thursday afternoon when the Co-operative Workers of America held a meeting in Gaston park. The meeting was attended by approximately 400.

The commissary demand came after Walter V. Tyler had finished speaking. In his address he said that the citizen who had to take a relief order in order to live was being cheated out of the difference between the wholesale and retail price of the groceries. "The government contributes so much money for food but you do not get this much," said Tyler. "Instead the merchant makes a profit on your food order and you get less than the government intended." The crowd endorsed the demand for a commissary.

Jess Dufford, president of the Cooperative Workers, opened the meeting and called upon Harry Wright as the first speaker. Mr. Wright spoke briefly upon the value of organization and then took charge as chairman of the day.

School Director Speaks.

School Director J. H. McIlvenny spoke for the board and said that his organization had deemed it their duty to go along with the CWA and RWD by providing projects and purchasing materials. "The board is d 'ighted with the splendid workmanship shown on the school projects," said McIlvenny, "but over and above that we know that we have saved the taxpayers $150,000 in work that would have had to be done shortly by school moneys."

County Commissioner P. O. Elder congratulated the men upon their organization and said the commissioners would be glad to cooperate with them at any time. There was no one present to represent the city.

Rev. C. S. Joshua spoke briefly and said that he had hoped that the Croton viaduct would be built from CWA funds. He congratulated the men upon the work done and urged them to stand together. The meeting adjourned about 4:15 o'clock.

Steen Likely To Be Appointed As Postmaster

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 18.—As a result of the postmastership examination it is generally believed that Richard A. Steen will be named postmaster of New Castle.

Of those who took the examination, Mr. Steen, now acting postmaster, received the highest rating. M. Lewis Wallace came second and Donald F. McGrew third on the list of three candidates certified by the civil service commission as eligible for appointment. The administration can name any one of these three to the postmastership post and it is generally felt Mr. Steen will be given the appointment.

One report here has it, however, that because of the Democratic primary fight in the Lawrence-Beaver-Butler district, the certainty of Mr. Steen's appointment may have been clouded.

Two Sites Are Suggested For Court House

Present Location And Kurtz Property Considered At Meeting Today

NEARLY A THOUSAND SIGN BIG PETITION

Attorneys J. Elder Bryan And John P. Lockhart Principal Speakers

Two sites for the proposed new court house, the present location and the Kurtz property, at the corner of East Washington street and Croton avenue, were urged upon the county commissioners by a delegation of East side citizens this morning.

As a background for locating the court house on the east side, the delegation had a petition containing the names of nearly one thousand citizens, who favored the present location, or some property east of the Washington street bridge.

Urges Present Site

Attorney J. Elder Bryan presented the advantages of the present court house site. He called attention to the fact that the court house has always been located on this site, that it is on an elevation sufficiently high to give it a commanding appearance, that it is easily accessible from all parts of the county, and that the county already owns the site.

To make it ideal for court house purposes Mr. Bryan believed that the acquisition of the Boyles property adjoining would be to advantage. If this property were secured there would be ample room to properly landscape the grounds, and also plenty of space available for parking purposes. There could be entrances made from three sides, Court street on the west, Court street on the north and County Line street on the south, or there could be a very convenient entrance made from the northeast corner of Court street or East Washington street.

One of the big points in its favor, according to Attorney Bryan, is that the county already owns the land.

Will Use Pymatuning Water If Necsssary

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 18.—Secretary of Forests and Waters Lewis E. Staley today promised the Shenango Valley that if it becomes absolutely necessary water will be released from the Pymatuning dam.

No decision will be made, however, he said, until after conferences in Pittsburgh today between Charles E. Ryder, chief engineer of the department, and officials of the valley area which is facing insufficient water because of the low stage of the Shenango river.

"We don't want to let water out of the Pymatuning dam unless we have to," Staley explained, "but if it becomes absolutely necessary, we'll do it."

Staley said the water stage in the reservoir has not yet reached the stone bank and that if the water was released, the waves might damage the banks. He said it will be next year before the reservoir is filled.

Bar Ladies At Bar In Famous Summer Resort

Atlantic City Lays Down Law To Women, Must Stay Away From Bar Rails

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 18.—Fun-loving Atlantic City, the world's playground where mirth and good-fellowship rule, today had abolished an old tradition—ladies at the bar.

In the future, by virtue of the power invested in the city commission any woman caught resting her foot on the brass rail or her elbow on the mahogany will be arrested as "no lady."

The edict, one of the few bans on joy at the resort, is an old law made new by the order to enforce it. None seemed quite clear just why the sudden order for enforcement was issued, but some observers believe cafe and saloonmen had something to do with it.

"When a dame starts to drink at the bar," said a commentator already at the bar himself, "there's always trouble A drunk makes a crack and 'the lady' cracks back. Then the trouble starts."

Suggests Mrs. Pinchot And Mrs. Roosevelt Quit Public Speeches

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Mrs. Cornelia Bryce Pinchot, wife of Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania, were invited by inference to cease making "public utterances" in a statement issued here today by the Rev. Dr. David M. Steele, Rector Emeritus of the Episcopal church of St. Luke and the Epiphany.

Although he desisted from naming the wife of the president and the wife of the state's governor, the Rev. Steele left no room for mistaking the identities of the persons he criticized in his statement.

"I would like to say to one lady at Harrisburg and one elsewhere," he declared, "that the state and nation at this juncture could get on very well without their public utterances."

After issuing his prepared statement, Dr. Steele was asked whether he referred to Mrs. Roosevelt and Mrs. Pinchot.

"I certainly did," he answered. "I meant every word of it."

Hunt Five Children In Lawrence County For Mystery Solution

(International News Service)

CHARLEROI, Pa., May 18—The search for the 'five little peppers" turned today from a little ramshackle cottage in Ella Hollow to a country hamlet in Lawrence county Unknowingly, they may hold the key to the solution of a murder—the slaying of their own father.

Since the skeleton of Paul Calsoni, erstwhile bootlegger and father of the children, was hauled from a shallow grave, the five children have been hunted by authorities.

Paul, Agnes, John, Mary and Anna, whose ages range from 11 to 19 years now are sought by Deputy Coroner L. M. Frye of Monongahela so that the grisly remains may be identified.

Through the assistance of a Pittsburgh attorney who has a summer home near Ella Hollow, the children were being traced after two weeks of untiring effort.

Remember Younsters

"I remember the youngsters, all right" the attorney said. "They lived on at the cottage for a year or more. The oldest boy finally turned to making moonshine whiskey. Then the authorities arrested the boy and the children were finally sent up to Lawrence county where relatives made homes for them."

Coroner's officials were certain that Calsoni was murdered by rival rum-running gangs which operated in southwestern Allegheny county at the time.

The body was found by John Malechek, a coal miner, who was dig-

Citizens Urge Survey Of City Electric Rates

Council Is Asked To Employ Engineer To Make Investigation Here

PETITIONS ARE GIVEN COUNCIL

Delegation Visits Council Meeting This Morning And Asks Action

One hundred and fifty citizens gathered in City Hall today and heard Attorney Walter S. Reynolds, spokesman for the consumers, request city council to employ a competent engineer for the purpose of determining if it is possible to effect a reduction in the rate paid by the domestic and commercial consumers of electricity here. At the conclusion of the meeting he was informed the council stands ready to co-operate with a consumers committee.

Reynolds said the consumers had come to City Hall to ascertain whether or not a reduction in the rates could be effected. He said he felt confident the city could effect a saving as far as the city lighting is concerned, but the $79,000 the city pays, he said, is nothing compared with what the people are concerned.

He declared it council's duty to take up and make a study of the cost of production and distribution of power for domestic and commercial purposes, owing to three reasons, one of which is that it is a public service that must be obtained through a public grant.

He said that it is protected from competition and also deals in a public necessity. He likened the service to taxes and he charged that "you cannot avoid paying a rate that someone fixes to pay".

The attorney explained that there is no one in the crowd in a position to say what is a proper rate,

This is a real old cow town, but prunes and easterners are getting a hold in here and they are both hard to eradicate.

There is not a better day in the world to be spent than with a lot of wise old cow men around, barbecued beef, black coffee and good beans. Cattle men have lost more in the last few years than anybody and say less about it.

When you ever have any doubt as to what might happen in these United States, go to the cow country and talk with the men there and you will come back reassured.

Now the basket season picnic is upon us or about, and it soon will be the season when a fellow's eating out. When the folks pack beans and pickles and a flock of lemon pies, after checking up the weather and examining the skies. When they drive to some far valley or to some amusement park and they eat their lunch from wooden plates and think it quite a lark. Now there was a time I loved it every ant and spider too, and I went to basket picnics there was nothing else to do, but I'm not so keen about it, not so much so any more, and I eat my meals at home now, weather's hot and eighty four.

How Old Is "Big Sister"? City Puzzles Over Problem

How old is Beth Wood, the energetic little heroine of the New Castle News sparkling strip,, "Big Sister"?

How old do you think she is?

The editorial staff is of a divided opinion. Queries put to various readers resulted in almost as many different guesses.

The controversy began when an enthusiastic reader phoned The News in hope of settling an argument.

"That's easy," said the society editor, "Big Sister is about 12 years old."

"Twelve" retorted the sport editor, "she's 16. I know because friends of mine have a 16-year-old daughter who looks just like Beth Wood."

"You are both wrong," interposed the court reporter. "She's about 10 years old!"

As The News went to press the controversy was still on. In fact, it was growing hotter.

So—join in the fun. You make a guess. How old is Big Sister?

FIND KIDNAP PRISON OF E. G. BREMER

Dillinger Gang Hide-Out Found

Two Of Dillinger Gang Are Identified As Abductors Of Bremer

ABANDONED MINE WAS USED BY GANG

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, May 18.—Discovery of the house where Edward G Bremer, wealthy St. Paul banker, was held by kidnapers today found the trail of desperado John Dillinger and the federal search for Bremer's abductors strangely entwined once again.

Federal sleuths located the house, just outside Cuba City, Wis., where Bremer was held for three weeks until $200,000 ransom was paid for his release.

Just a stone's throw from the kidnapers' lair the investigators found an abandoned mine where Dillinger and his outlaw followers hid after his break fom a federal trap at Spider Lake, Wis.

Identify Gang Members.

Alvin Karpis and Arthur "Doc" Barker, hunted as the actual abductors of Bremer, have been identified as members of the Dillinger party that shot its way out of the Wisconsin north woods trap on April 22.

Investigators were of the opinion that Dillinger and his companions fled to the mine after the north woods shooting and remained there while an army of police and federal agents were scouring the middle west for them.

Near the house stands an old stone mill which fits the description of the place given to authorities by Bremer after his release. Both the mill and the mine showed signs of having been used as headquarters by the kidnapers, federal investigators said.

Twelve miles to the south is Galena, Ill., where a score or more of department of justice agents, armed for a pitched battle, have been hunting for Tommy Carroll, a lieutenant of Dillinger. Residents there have identified photographs of Carroll as the man who lived there openly for a week.

CITIZENS URGE SURVEY OF CITY ELECTRIC RATES

and someone trained for that purpose must be employed.

Presents Petition

He said that a question like this, "I am satisfied means a saving of $500,000 annually to the taxpayers of New Castle." He characterized it as a problem not to be approached by hatred. He declared power is invested in council to look after the welfare o f the community.

He described 84 "tax free towns" in the nation and the returns from municipally owned plants paid for the operation of the cities. He said private plants have decreased 50 per cent during the past 10 years, and pointed out that in 1881 there was only one.

At this point he presented petitions containing 5,088 names to council in support of the request of the approximately 150 men who had visited council. The petitions were received.

He charged the economic life of the community depends on cheap electricity, and said that if the government can control the highways, schools and bridges, then the public has some right in controlling electric light.

He said council has the authority, and it is their duty to employ a competent engineer, and he felt sure, he declared, that the public would feel justified in the expense of a preliminary survey.

Attorney Reynolds said the gentlemen present had attended the meeting to try and assist council to arrive at a wise conclusion and to show that they are interested in a proposed attempt to secure a reduced rate. He said the gathering was not a pressure move against the council.

Question Discussed

Safety Director Davies told him, "You will find the mayor and council in sympathy with the movement." He said the proposed employment of an engineer had been discussed.

Finance Director Hoyland had Solicitor White explain the legal angle of the city's position.

Solicitor White said the city can only appear before the public service commission on city street lighting. In making a contract, he explained, "We cannot say anything about commercial and domestic light."

He did say, however, the city, as a user of domestic light can join in as an interest party.

White advised that should an engineer be employed he secure the facts and council should allow the public to make the protest. He declared an inventory could be made. White said "It is my recommendation that we have a survey and pay a fair return for the distribution and have the electricity metered at the city line."

He explained that the facts gathered could be given to the committee representing the public and this committee should cooperate with council. He told how the survey would be made and the costs allocated as several companies use poles. White said that the engineer would not have to go outside the city to make an inventory.

Finance Director Hoyland argued that the public should have a committee which would cooperate with council.

Present Situation

W. H. Butler spoke and said that this time, the move suggested is an investigation and "after we know where we are then we can decide on the next step."

Edward J. Davis spoke. He advocated the collection of the latest data, told of municipal plant operations in various cities and described the government sale of power in the South. He said that "If we do not get lower rates it is our fault." He said council is willing to do its share.

Mayor Mayne told of how power in the south had been sold in the south by politicians and explained that at present the people now are getting the benefit there but said, "We must go on the conditions that exist here."

He said he believed the average payment for street lighting here should cost the city about $50,000. He said the city pays 40 percent higher than this amount. He said the light cost was higher when he was elected mayor. The mayor told of councilmanic meeting and said that the city has not worked out what the city intends to do and has not given out anything for publication because to be "forewarned is forearmed".

Frank Butler, an engineer who was present, addressed council stating difference in cost in developing current by hydro or steam, but said it is the ultimate cost the consumers here want to know.

Countess Found Suicide Victim

Beautiful Lettish-Born Countess Found Dead In Her Apartment In Athens

WAS CENTER OF LOVE TRIANGLE

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 18.—The final tragic stage of a colorful romance in which King Zog of Albania and Kemal Messare, a former marshal of the Albanian court, contested for the hand of the beautiful Lettish-born Countess Dorothea Ropp was enacted on the coast of Phaleron bay, near Athens, today.

According to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Athens, the countess was found dead there under circumstances indicating she had committed suicide.

King Zog fell in love with the baroness shortly after assuming his throne, but she in turn preferred Messare.

Letter Is Left.

Because of this, King Zog, angry, promulgated a law forbidding the marriage of Albanian diplomats to foreigners. In addition he transferred his rival in love to the Athens legation.

The baroness, however, followed the dictates of her heart and pursued Messare to the Grecian city, where, even though she was compelled to work as a stenographer, she apparently found happiness.

Only conjecture today surrounded the reasons for her death, which it was believed she may have disclosed in a letter which she left for Messare.

SUGGESTED FOR COURT HOUSE

If the court house is taken to some other location, it is a question if the present building can be disposed of to any advantage. Being on high and dry land no difficulty would be experienced in getting a firm foundation, something that might cost considerably more on a lower location.

Lockhart Speaks

Former county solicitor, Attorney John P. Lockhart said that he appreciated the difficulties which the county commissioners face in the selection of a site. There are factions pulling for different sites, and the commissioners are entitled to sympathy in their efforts to select a site that will appeal to the majority of the people of the county. He said that he believed that the commissioners were honestly trying to get public sentiment on the matter, and were actuated by no other motives than to please the majority of the people.

"I have heard it said," continued Mr. Lockhart, "that the county commissioners ought not to select a site that would take valuable property out from under taxation. This does not appeal to me. The county of Lawrence is a $70,000,000 corporation. We ought to recognize that the erection of a new court house would help the whole county. It should be located where it would be easy of access, and on a site where it could be easily seen. People coming into the town judge it by the character of the buildings. The court house should be located where it will convey a good impression.

Urges Kurtz Property

"It would seem to me to be a short sighted policy to place such a magnificent building as is proposed, where it cannot be seen. For more than 20 years I have had in mind a site has appealed to me as an ideal location for a court house. This is the Kurtz property at the corner of East Washington street and Croton avenue, although I would not be unfavorable to the present site.

"I do not know what the Kurtz property would cost. It would probably have to be condemned. If this were done appraisers would take into consideration, the present values of real estate. The court house would probably last for the next 150 years, and located on the Kurtz site, it would always be a conspicious landmark of the town.

"I have secured some figures regarding the size of this site, taking in the other property up to the railroad tracks, there would be a frontage on East Washington street of 352.9 feet; from the corner of East Washington street and Croton avenue, north to the alley 235½ feet; from Croton avenue back along the alley to the railroad, taking a straight line, 260 feet, and on the east long the railroad tracks 142 feet. This would provide ample room for the buildings and the landscaping of the grounds.

Other Considerations.

"There are other things to recommend the site. All traffic from the east, from the Harlansburg, Butler, Ellwood City and other roads, passes that way. It is also near the center of population. The center of population is only about a square south in the direction of the New Castle Grocery company. It would also have the advantages of a railroad siding for the unloading of coal and heavy supplies.

"It is not likely that the county commissioners can select a site that will please everybody, but this one certainly has many things in its favor. It is near the business district of the city and convenient to both city and county residents." Mr. Lockhart concluded by stating his confidence in the ability of the commissions to select a site that will please the greatest number.

Prefers East Side.

Attorney J. Elder Bryan, whose first choice was the present site, was not adverse to the Kurtz site. He said that when a postoffice site was under consideration he had gone to Washington with a committee regarding it. He said that figures obtained at that time showed that more traffic passes the corner of Croton avenue and Washington street than any other point in the city. He said at that time that the city had been willing to widen Croton avenue, if the site were selected. He also called attention to the North street bridge which helps to take care of the traffic from the eastern part of the county. He referred to the Kurtz site as being near the center of population, and being only one block from the city building.

Thomas Hartman, president of the Lawrence Savings & Trust company, expressed preference for an east side location. Regarding the cost of the land he expressed the opinion that when a good building is contemplated anywhere, it is always wise to pay more heed to a location that will properly display the building to be erected, even if it does cost a little more.

Alderman Green expressed himself in favor of the present site. "It is located on a nice elevation," said he, "and can be seen from all parts of town. Elevation is the principal thing in the erection of a conspicuous building. Another point in favor of this location is that the county already owns over half the ground necessary.

William Hartwell of the Universal Sales company expressed himself in favor of the Kurtz site. He believed that it would be more convenient than any other, and would impress visitors.

Charles McCandlass, William Braatz and Everett Grafinger were in favor of erecting the court house on the present site.

Nearly all of those who spoke in favor of the present site did not offer any objections to the Kurtz site. The sentiment seemed to be that the new building should be erected on the east side . Attention to the fact that the new postoffice and the Cathedral are on the west side of the Neshannock. It was also contended that to remove the court house very far from its present location affects property values on the east side.

After the speakers had finished they were thanked for their views by Commissioners Elder, Conners and Woods. Mr. Conners said that the commissioners had become somewhat discouraged over the general apathy shown toward the project of late. Personally he was in favor of the present site, but he wanted to build it where it would please the most people. "If the people want the court house, we want to build it," he said. "If they do not we don't."

HUNT FIVE CHILDREN IN LAWRENCE CO. FOR MYSTERY SOLUTION

ging post poles for a new chicken house.

A Red Cross nurse and Mrs. Cora B. Vernon, director of Donora charity came into the picture today, as they recalled having gone to the Calsoni home in 1929 to investigate stories, that five children were living alone in the cottage.

Subsequently, when it was learned that the children had lived there for more than a year, getting a meagre living out of their garden patch and by selling mushrooms and horse radish in Monongahela, the plight of the family became a matter of public attention.

May Solve Crime

When the children refused to leave the home a movement was begun to remove them to a charity home, but a wave of sentiment interrupted this step. "The five little peppers" were widely publicized for their brave stand and there was a flood of orders for their garden products. They prospered and were contented.

For the time they were not disturbed, but one day the orders stopped. When the children faced a long, hard winter they were removed to the Allegheny County home. Unfortunately their identity was lost because Paul, the oldest, was a step-son of Calsoni and the children were admitted to the home under his name.

Since, they have remained "lost" and today the most surprising development of all resulted from the investigation.

Paul, it is believed, knows who murdered his father.

When questioned by Donora authorities and newspapermen several years ago, he told them that he believed his father "had been killed by that bunch." He named several individuals then associated in bootlegging.

The hunt for the "five little peppers" has been spurred by the possibility that the boy does not know of the finding of the skeleton and that he may hold the solution to a gang murder.

SMALL FIRES ARE CAUSE OF ALARMS

Firemen answered three alarms during the last 24 hours, one of which proved to be false.

A leaking carburetor in the car of Dan Cunningham, caused gasoline to ignite. An alarm from Box 48 called firemen to East Washington street to extinguish the blaze, Thursday afternoon. The fire had been extinguished before firemen arrived on the scene.

At 9:55 last evening, firemen were called to North Mercer street by an alarm from Box 17, where an awning was afire.

This morning at 8 o'clock, firemen were called to the home of N. J. Love of 1009 North Mercer street, where shavings in a box in the cellar became ignited from sponstaneous ignition. There was no damage.

INCREASE IN FREIGHT

DENVER—The increase in the use of building materials and in the purchase of new automobiles has contributed to the increase in freight shipments in Colorado 40 per cent over last year, according to a survey of the railroads for the first three months of the year. More farm machinery is also being moved thru this region.

LADIES GOLF DAY TO OPEN AT FIELD CLUB

Come the nice warm days of May, society's attention is directed golfwards and for some time arrangements have been discussed for the first Ladies' Day at the New Castle Field Club.

Now, the date is all planned for next Thursday, May 24, and a large number of golf enthusiasts are eagerly awaiting the hour of 9:30 when they will tee off from the first green near the club house.

This year there will be two classes; one which will play a nine hole game and the other 18 holes.

It is desired that a large number of those interested, come out next Thursday and if possible, remain for luncheon at noon.

On the committee in charge are: Mrs. Elizabeth R. Bleakley, Mrs. William D. Horner, Mrs. Roger W. Rowland, Mrs. John B. Elliott, Miss Edna M. Wilson, Mrs. Clyde M. Whittaker.

Luncheon Event

A delightful luncheon event of Wednesday was in the home of Mrs. O. D. Williams at Walmo with the Walmo Kensington and Mrs. C. C. Rawlins guests.

Covers were laid for nine at the table attractive with a bouquet of purple and white lilacs and the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Harry Burgess.

Usually, the women spend the afternoon sewing for the Red Cross, but this time they just had a pleasantly informal time and Mrs. Burgess invited the club to her home on Lincoln avenue the third Wednesday in June.

Here From New York

Mrs. Hobart Brinsmade, nee Arabella Cobau, is here from New York City for a few days' visit. She came out to see her mother, Mrs. Herb D. McGoun of Lincoln avenue, who was operated upon for appendicitis in Jameson hospital this week. Mrs. McGoun's condition is reported good today.

J. O. Y. CLASS HAS MOTHERS' BANQUET

The dining room of the First Baptist church was a veritable flower garden Thursday evening as the members of the J. O. Y. class, taught by Mrs. W. O. Williams, entertained their mothers at the annual mother-daughter event. A color scheme of orchid and green was carried out, with odorous lilacs and spring blossoms used in profusion.

Many former members from out of the city were present for the event. Mrs. C. H. Heaton invoked the Divine blessing.

Concluding a sumptuous menu, Mrs. Myrtle Klingensmith lead the group in pep singing and Mrs. W. O. Williams extended greetings.

Grace Adele Rodgers sang "Can't You Change it for a Boy?"; Frances Rodgers gave the toast to mothers, "Origin of Mothers' Day"; A quartet: Elizabeth Davis, Martha Kosola, Anna Maxwell and Frances Rodgers, sang "To My Mother"; Eunice Wilson gave a reading "Knight's Toast" and Mrs. C. BEAUTIFUL WEDDING IN EPWORTH CHURCH

Style and beauty characterized the wedding Thursday evening at 7:30 in the Epworth M. E. church of Miss Prudence Sankey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Edwards of Garfield avenue, to Charles B. Matthews, son of Mrs. Katherine Matthews of Hamilton street.

The lovely ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. A. Galbraith, pastor of the church, and Rev. Robert Withers, a personal friend of the family, before the altar which was banked with palms and ferns, combined effectively with a profusion of the season's flowers.

The bride was charming in her wedding gown of creamy white mousseline de soie, made en train and fashioned on long lines, with high pleated neckline and short puffed sleeves, a similar pleating edging the bottom of the skirt. Her veil was of shorter length and she carried a beautiful arm bouquet of Dresden cut flowers.

Miss Leona Sankey was her sister's maid of honor and she wore a gown of maize mousseline de soie, fashioned just like the bride's and her arm bouquet was colonial.

Contrary to the custom, the groom wore a white suit and his attendant was Ronald McCoy, as best man.

Preceding the ceremony, there was a delightful organ program given by Miss Margaret Hertzler, who is one of the city's talented musicians, and two vocal selections, "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly", were pleasingly rendered by Mrs. Edward O'Neil.

The church was filled with relatives and freinds of both families. After the ceremony, an informal reception was held at the Edwards home for members of the immediate family and closest friends. A dainty color scheme of pink and white predominated in appointments with beautiful flowers decorating the home.

The young couple departed late in the evening for an eastern trip to Philadelphia and New York and upon their return June 1 they will receive their many friends in a newly furnished home on the Butler road.

For traveling, the bride chose a modish ensemble of brown and white with a shoulder corsage of yellow marguerites and tea roses.

From out of the city were several guests, among whom were Miss Bertie Miller of Tarentum, Pa., a college friend of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sankey of Sharon and A. D. Milford of Tarentum, Pa.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Matthews are graduates of the New Castle high school and the latter is also a graduate of Slippery Rock State Teachers college. For a number of years she has been an instructor in the Shenango township school.

Mr. Matthews is identified with the Shenango works of the American Sheet & Tin Plate company.

B. class of the Third United Presbyterian church was attained Thursday evening when the members of the Women's class, who came out losers in the contest, banqueted the men at a most elaborate affair in the church dining room, with covers arranged for 180.

A profusion of spring flowers, in many shades, in combination with tall tapers, were used in table decorations. The music during the dinner was placed by a boys' orchestra: Bill McKnight, Bill Greer, Robert Morgan and Russell Riley.

DETROIT RECOGNIZES MERIT

ONCE again a metropolitan church has seen fit to reach into New Castle for a man to fill its pulpit, this time the Church of the Covenant of Detroit, Michigan. The man they have asked to fill their pulpit is the Rev. Dr. Walter E. McClure, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

Dr. McClure has spent ten years in New Castle. In that time he has grown in stature and his church has grown in membership. He has not always agreed with the accepted trend of thought, neither has the general public always agreed with him. But regardless of whether one agreed with him or not, he has always had the respect of the citizens for his forthright manner of handling questions.

New Castle congratulates Detroit upon getting a minister of exceptional ability. His work here has been fruitful, he has been a diligent worker in the Master's vineyard. He goes to a larger church with the well wishes of an entire city.

NEW YORK'S EXPERIMENT WITH THE DOLE

The outcome of the cash relief experiment to be tried by the New York City Home Relief Bureau starting next week will be watched with interest by Pennsylvania. Members of this State's Relief Administration are advocating with great vigor the substitution of the dole for the system of orders for food, clothing and fuel and the New York test should afford effective demonstration of the plan's workability—and its humaneness, a point frequently stressed by its sponsors.

The New York program calls for issuance of checks that may be cashed in any bank. To make certain the recipient expends the money for purposes deemed worthy by the authorities, his handling of it is to be supervised in some unexplained fashion, and if he is found to be squandering his dole, it will be withdrawn.

Such policing is likely to prove neither practicable nor popular. The plea that cash relief would reduce administrative expenses would not be borne out if a force of snoopers would have to be maintained to spy on the needy and see that they do not waste the sparse charity meted out to them. And the thousands of unfortunates who depend on the state because they have no jobs would much prefer work than a perpetuated system of dollar-handouts with watchful agents making sure the dole is used according to a prescribed formula.

The New York experiment should prove invaluable as an object lessen on the dole and its consequences.

COST OF CRIME

If the people could be aroused to a full realization of the cost in money that crime in the nation annually exacts, there can be little doubt that more effective means than now prevail for dealing with it would be found.

According to Earl W. Evans, president of the American Bar Association, the cost is more than $12,000,000,000.

"Crime not only threatens the prosperity and happiness of our people," he said, "but the very life of the nation itself. It enacts an appalling toll—some $12,000,000,000 in money and more, vastly more than can be measured in money, in misery, death and weakened morale."

If the government were proposing to levy $12,000,000,000 in new taxes upon the public to finance some undertaking regarded generally as unessential, a great howl would arise from one end of the country to the other. Yet, we hear comparatively little public outcry against crime.

One of the results of this situation is the perpetuation of conditions conducive to crime. Officials become negligent in their duties and politicians continue to put in office men who will form a link between themselves and the underworld.

Additional legislation of some kind may be needed, but more alertness on the part of the public in driving crooks from office and demanding vigorous and impartial enforcement of existing laws would do a great way in improving conditions and cutting down the present cost of crime.

CHINA'S FUTURE

Chinese officials and statesmen who have at heart the real welfare of their country will see in Japan's latest statement of Far Eastern policy a challenge to their best efforts in unifying and building up their nation to become a world power.

They would make a serious mistake if they relied exclusively upon Western powers to protect China from Japanese aggrandizement, which clearly is aimed at ultimate subjugation of the country by any means that may become necessary. How deeply Occidental nations may become involved in the situation is something for the future to decide. Japan is not yet ready to challenge them by a too highhanded policy, as was indicated in Tokyo's recent modification of the statement issued by its unofficial spokesman.

But if she can keep just within the limits of their tolerance while pushing her conquest plans by infiltration and other non-violent means she still will be moving toward her objective and at the same time strengthening herself for a showdown at arms should this, in her view, become necessary.

The Western powers have too many other things, including serious domestic problems, to demand their attention now. They are not inclined to go further, in becoming involved in Far Eastern affairs, than may seem absolutely necessary to the moment. Whether this eventually will prove a wise course is a debatable question.

China is making some headway in the direction of unification. To imbue the people with a national consciousness remains the first task of Chinese leaders. Should this be accomplished, China's road to greatness as a nation would be made much easier.

It may be that the new Japanese threat will help in doing this. Chinese leaders can try to convert it to this use with some hope of success. To fail to do this and to depend, instead, exclusively on the West to rescue their country from threatened Japanese absorption would be a blunder.

China's eventual fate will be decided by the Chinese.

WOMAN. WOMAN!

She says I got her into a peck of trouble.

I said: "How did I ever get you into trouble?"

She says, "Well, you said something about when you're feeling out of sorts and nothing is happening that is interesting and you don't know what to do—to do something foolish. And I did. I went out and got myself a henna rinse—and my husband didn't like it and that's how YOU got me into trouble."

But listen woman. I didn't tell you to get a henna rinse. I don't even know what a henna rinse it.... I suspect, from reading the advertisements and looking at the cards in street cars, that it has something to do with the hair, something that makes it very alluring and all that ....But I'm not sure of that. And, anyway, would I be telling any woman to get a henna rinse? I'd look silly doing that, suggesting that she needs it, wouldn't I? Would I be doing that? You know I wouldn't. Would I be interfering in any domestic affairs, advising women to do anything that would make their husbands blow up? Not a chance—I would NOT. Not me. I know better.

Perhaps I WOULD advise her to do something foolish something she wouldn't think of doing ordinarily, just to get herself out of the rut of common monotonous living, to make herself feel free for a little while—even though she knows she isn't entirely free....But no henna rinses. I didn't have them in mind at all.

Besides, specific advice isn't in my line....I wouldn't advise a boy to go to college, I wouldn't advise him to stay away. I wouldn't tell anybody to marry or to get a divorce, either. I wouldn't say "Plant peach trees" or "plant potatoes." .....I might say, "Read Morley Callaghans latest book." Or "Look in both directions before you cross the street," but I wouldn't anybody what automobile to buy....Large, general, all inclusive advise is so much easier to give—and so much safer...So there you are, woman. I shot an arrow into the air, it fell to earth, I knew not where, and you went downtown and got yourself a henna rinse and you told your husband I advised you to do it.....I did NOT.

ENTHUSE OVER WHAT YOU HAVE.

You need more enthusiasm.

You are too prosaic and, you're probably going through life in such a drab manner that there is little that interests you.

You know certain things which would arouse your interest, but because of financial or other reasons you are unable to enjoy them.

Because you cannot have just what you want, you will not become interested in anything else.

Maybe you enjoy making a martyr of yourself—many persons do.

To everyone something is denied which might bring them great happiness.

What you have, another might feel would complete his heart's desire.

Perhaps some of those whom you think have nearly everything they desire might be willing to give up everything they possess if they had what is yours.

Enthuse over what you can procure—thoroughly enjoy your work and play.

Pursuing such a course will add a lot to your life.

Don't be so dead in your thoughts and actions—enthuse, a little.

HONOR

What is the price of honor? What the cost
Of pride and all that makes the life serene?
The will to rise above the sordid mean;
To let some little selfish gain be lost;
To face temptation and be passion tossed
And still prefer to hold the record clean;
To brave the years and set a line between
The right and wrong which never shall be crossed.

Regardless of what others think, the man
Who good opinion of himself maintains,
The scorn and censure of the world disdains,
For he, who never lowers his standard can
Face victory or failure undismayed
Having no past of which to be afraid.

Bible Thought For Today

What you can't pay—just forget,
Why my Uncle Sam
Though he's 29 billion in debt!
Is sweet as a lamb.

Citizen—They're prompt in part; they never miss sending my bills on time.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

A young man went to the family physician and complained he was not feeling well. He hadn't been himself in months.

The doctor gave the patient a thorough examination even including the X-ray. Finally he shook his head and said:

"I'm sorry, young man, but I can't do anything for you. Your complaint is hereditary."

"Well, if that's the case," the youth responded, "You'd better send the bill to my father."

HOW HOT IS A STAR?

"Twinkle, twinkle little star, how I wonder what you are" has been revised by astronomers of today. It is not what stars are but how hot they are that is bothering these scientists. They believe that the shimmering twinkle of the major stars we see at night is due to the terrific heat of these blazing suns. Instruments have been devised that show varying temperatures of the stars ranging from 3,200 degrees to 90,000 degrees Fahrenheit. Just how hot this is can be shown by remembering that man's hottest flame, the arc of the electric furnace, is only 5,300 degrees.

ONE FROM "SID" McKAY

St. Cloud, Fla.,
May 14, 1934.

Mr. Fred Rentz,
New Castle, Pa.
Dear Sir:

I have been thinking for sometime of writing to you, but have been been waiting a chance to sandwich one in between Frank McConnell's, which have been coming pretty regular of late. The first of his series reminded me somewhat of the second chapter of Acts and last part of the 17th verse.

Now all I know is not what I read in the good old New Castle News, or what I get over the radio, although I get many good things from both, especially the News, as we always enjoy hearing from the old town. What little knowledge I get is from observation and personal experience along with reading the different papers and magazines.

Well we are beginning to feel somewhat lonesome now with the tourists all leaving for their northern homes; they are nearly all gone and we sure miss them, for we had a fine tourist season—more I think than ever before. And the weather was ideal which was sure appreciated by all, especially those who were constantly getting letters from the different parts of the north telling of the terrible cold weather they were having. It is hard to realize that it was so cold there when we did not have so much as a killing frost.

We certainly have had ideal weather so far this spring; just enough rain to keep things growing nicely. Of course the gardens are mostly over with except for some things that will last for sometime yet. We were sorry to see some of the gardens play out, especially Mrs. Humphrey's, as she sure had some garden, and she very often would bring us in a mess of corn or beans, as well as tomatoes, lettuce and cabbage, all of which was certainly enjoyed. There are still some strawberries in the markets—they are holding out well this season as they began to bear before Christmas. But, there are so many other berries ripe now we don't care for strawberries as they are out of season. We have had a wonderful crop of mulberries—they were so large and very rich in flavor. Blackberries have been ripe now for a week or more and there is a wonderful crop. I am speaking of wild ones as they are so plentiful everywhere that people pay no attention to tame ones and not only that, but the wild ones have so much better flavor and sold so cheap that it does not pay to raise them.

The citrus crop was very good but prices low. There was a great many cars of fruit hauled to northern markets by truck; by the way, the fruit was not packed, just piled into the large trucks loose. This saved quite a lot for the growers. The records show the number of carloads of fruit and vegetables shipped out of the state this season was as follows: oranges 15,000, grapefruit 11,000, tomatoes 7000, beans 8000, celery 7000, potatoes 2000, vegetables 3000—so you see there is some stuff raised in this state and increasing every year.

We took a trip through the tomato section when they were picking them and it was a sight to see the army of pickers. In one patch I counted 60 colored people, men and women, picking and putting in crates to be hauled to the packing house where they are sorted and crated for shipping—they are all picked green, no ripe ones ever shipped.

We have not been doing much fishing of late as the bass were not biting very readily, but they are beginning to take the bait better now and several very good catches being made. The last time I was out we caught eight bass, but none very large. I don't think we had any that would weigh over four pounds. We are planning on going after them some day this week and try for some large ones.

How we would love to have some of our New Castle friends spend the summer with us and enjoy the pleasures they cannot get in the winter season.

I suppose when we get back to the old home town again we will have the opportunity of viewing the new courthouse; also, the great Croton viaduct.

With best wishes to all our friends, I remain

Sincerely yours,
A. S. McKay.

The World At A Glance

Increased Prices Are Failing
Higher Costs Cannot Be Passed Off
World Meeting On Prices, Trade Urged

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, May 18.—It looks as if increased costs under the NRA cannot be made up in the major industries by higher prices.

Alarm is expressed over the drop in steel orders and automobile purchases following price increases. Other industries are taking heed. That fact, almost as much as the regulation bill for stock exchanges, has been the cause of depression in securities.

An increase in the prices of major industries could better be stood than an increase in the cost of food and clothing. Yet the prices of food and clothing continue to rise, while basic industries cannot maintain their prices with success.

Regardless of the social problems involved—and few persons deny that the welfare of miillions of workers and farmers is fundamental—unnatural forcing up of prices creates disturbances that often are as damaging as the disease they would cure.

The thought that world agreements on money, tariffs, exchange, immigration, debts, armament, prices must be reached prior to any basic recovery or any widespread social benefits is increasingly felt in New York—gateway to America.

Certain it is that with Italy lowering prices, that with Japan underselling, with China, India, Russia unable to buy, with Germany and France raising trade barriers and starving themselves, with the Argentine determined to dump its wheat, with England entering upon trade restrictions for all its dominions, the United States cannot continue on a purely self-sustaining, isolated course. The United States is a creditor nation with huge surpluses that must be sold not only to get its debts paid, but to save itself from eventual bankruptcy.

* * *

A CONTROVERSY

A controversy is certain to loom over immigration.

The United States, which was built up through immigration, became bitterly anti-immigration.

It became bitter because large industries imported millions of foreigners to undermine American workmen. The foreigners were lured by promises—and suffered a cruel disillusionment.

But now there has arisen a powerful pleader for the cause of more immigration—10 to 25 millions of additional peoples. (The United States could readily absorb 125,000,000.) That pleader is J. M. Patterson, publisher of the New York Daily News. He has a fight on his hands, but he insists that he will fight it out.

"Why have new millions come if we cannot feed millions that we already have?" persons ask.

In order to put the idle millions to work, Patterson responds, "we have surpluses because we are underpopulated."

Patterson adds: "Why not bring 10 to 25 million mouths here to eat away our farm surplus as we did in our most expansive decades as a nation? What applies to farm products applies as well to goods our factories make. Right now we make more than people here can use. . . What chance have we to increase our foreign markets? . . . We have overproduction because we have an under-populated and out-of-plumb country."

Others who join with Patterson assert that one thing would be necessary- a minimum wage law. As for the theory, it is one of the oldest of economists—the more hands, the more mouths, the more industry, the larger the purchases, the faster the wheels turn around.

All provided that natural resources are open to all and that the result of labor accrues to all.

* * *

COSTLY

Corporations are learning just how much they will have to "divide with the government" under some of the new laws.

Public utilities are hit to the extent of millions by the law preventing the filing of consolidated tax returns.

One means of escaping some of the taxes is to increase the funded debts of some of the subsidiaries.

* * *

WHEAT

It is not generally known that Russia, too, has suffered a drought in its wheat regions.

Speaking collectively and not of the poor individual farmer, if this year's drought had not come, wheat prices would have sunk to the lowest levels yet. Even with the drought, the U. S. S. R. has increased its yield.

And the United States still has considerable of a carry-over.

Foreign markets, with surpluses ready to be dumped on them, have a tendency to drag the inflated American price down. Liverpool July future is virtually 20 cents a bushel under the American price.

Higher wheat prices are more fundamental to American prosperity to any possible debt payments. (This, of course, is aside from the moral issue involved.)

The Roosevelt administration, once it has its reciprocity tariff act, must find some means of exchanging grain for goods, in the primeval manner of barter and exchange. That will help to sustain prices.

There are plenty of hungry people. Means must be found through man-made barriers to give them the opportunity to eat.

MINUTE BIOG

Senator Clarence C. Dill, of Washington state, author of the senate resolution authorizing an inquiry into the gigantic American Telephone & Telegraph company, used to be a newspaper man.

Large, pleasant, progressive, well informed, he now makes news.

He was born Sept. 21, 1884, near Fredericktown, Knox county, O., and still visits his mother in Ohio when passing through from the Pacific coast to the national capital.

Senator Dill was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware, O., in 1907. Then he became a reporter on the Cleveland Press and the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Then he did what few newspaper men do. He turned to teaching—became a high school teacher at Dubuque, Ia., then in Spokane, Wash.

Spokane became his home town. He was admitted to the bar there in 1910, at 26. A year later he was serving in the office of the prosecuting attorney of Spokane county. Following which, in 1913, Dill served as secretary to Governor Earnest Lister for one year.

Whereupon Dill was elected to the national house of representatives, in 1914, re-elected in 1916, and defeated in 1918.

Four years later, in 1922, Dill was elected to the United States senate and re-elected in 1928, in spite of the fact that Herbert Hoover carried the state.

His friends say that re-election this year virtually is certain, as Dill is a progressive Roosevelt Democrat.

He waited till he was 42 (in 1927) to wed. The bride was Rosalie Jones, of Cold Spring Harbor, Long Island.

TITLES FOR CASH.

Michael Luckhovich, member of the Canadian parliament, had introduced a measure to sell titles of nobility to provide a source of income for the government.

He would sell the title of "duke" for $50,000, "marquis", $25,000, "earl," $15,000, "viscount" $10,000, "baron" $9,000, "baronet" $8,000, and "knight," $7,000.

Luckhovich has it figured out that the Government could realize $183,500,000 from this source, the only cost being to issue beautifully embossed and engraved certificates conveying such titles to those of his fellow countrymen inclined toward vanity—and who have the money.

Police Hunting Robber Trio

Aged North Beaver Resident Is Robbed Of $40 At Home

State police have not yet found any trace of the man and two women who robbed Dale Bender, 84, of North Beaver township, Wednesday afternoon of $40, then sped away from his home in an automobile, they announced yesterday. It is believed that within a short time after they had committed the robbery they crossed the state line into Ohio.

According to the report obtained by the state police who went to the Bender place as soon as the robbery was reported, Bender was working in his yard when a car containing a man and two women drove along the road.

One of the women went to Bender and asked him for a match.

The other woman and the man left the car and walked into the yard.

Soon the party asked the aged man if age did not make his legs stiff and they felt of his legs and one of them picked his pocket of $40.

He then sought the match and while doing so they left, got into the machine and travelled toward Ohio.

W. A. G. CLUB HAS ENJOYABLE MEETING

A delightful evening was provided for the members of the W. A. G. club Thursday evening by Mrs. H. S. Sherman at her home on East Leasure avenue.

Three tables of bridge were placed in play early in the evening and formed the principal pastime. A very tasty lunch was served at the close of play by the hostess, assisted by her daughter Peg Sprott, Sally Lou Byers and Mrs. S. A. Thompson.

Special guests included Mrs William Logan and Mrs. S. A. Thompson. Mrs. A. J. Hand of Pittsburgh, a member of the club, was also present.

The next meeting will be on Thursday evening, June 23, at the home of Mrs. W. R. Bollinger, West Madison avenue.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

EARLY HONEY FLOW

There has been an unusually heavy early honey flow in Lawrence County this year.

Many colonies at the present time are crowded for room and supers should be placed on the hives at once. With the continuance of good weather there will be a loss of honey if the supers are not placed on the hives. Shallow frame supers are recommended for this purpose, as the bees will place honey in shallow frame supers when they will not work in section supers. In some cases colonies are so crowded that the bees will soon be swarming.

When the colony of bees becomes strong this month and there is danger of swarming, additional ventilation should be supplied.

This ventilation can be provided by raising the hive body from the bottom board and placing a small block under each corner. The blocks should be from one-half inch to two inches thick, depending upon the strength of the colony. This extra space will give the old bees additional space to cluster when they are not working. Only strong colonies should be given the extra ventilation space. If it is given too soon the development of the colony will be retarded.

BEANS REQUIRE FERTILE SOIL FOR BEST GROWTH

Beans require a well-prepared, fertile, mellow soil.

Broadcasting the fertilizer before planting is recommended. The fertilizer should not come in direct contact with the seed. The seed of bush snap and shell varieties should be sown so that the plants will stand 3 or 4 inches apart in rows spaced about two feet apart for hand cultivation or 2½ to 3 feet apart for horse cultivation. About one inch of soil over the seed is sufficient.

Replanting may be necessary, especially with the first seeding of if a heavy rain or cold spell occurs after planting. Later plantings of snap beans may be made until the last of June for a continuous supply.

Frequent shallow cultivations to prevent weed growth are essential, but this work should not be done when the vines are wet.

CLUB MEMBERS MAY SHOW LAMBS AND BABY BEEVES

Announcement has been made of the Second Annual Livestock Show and Auction sale scheduled for next October at the Pittsburgh Joint Stock Yards. This show for fat lambs and baby beeves will be open to 4-H club members, boys and girls, and farmers residing in West Virginia, eastern Ohio, and Western Pennsylvania counties who have produced and grain-fed the animals to be exhibited and who have followed feeding practices approved by the respective state agricultural colleges.

Prizes amounting to $175 will be distributed among winners in the lamb division which includes classes for individual fat lambs, pens of three, pens of 15, and carloads of 50 head. Prize money offered in the cattle division will total $130 and the classes are for individuals or lots of three fat steers or heifers weighing 700 to 900 pounds and the same for animals weighing from 900 to 1050 pounds.

Prizes for the pens of three fat lambs will begin at $10 for first place and drop $1 with each succeeding place, except that from tenth to fifteenth each prize will be $1. In the individual fat steer classes the prizes will start with $20 for first place and drop $5. a place to $5. for fourth place. Duplicate ribbons will be awarded so that both the exhibitor and the purchaser will receive one.

If sufficient cattle entries are received to justify them, separate shows will be staged for the Hereford, Shorthorn, and Aberdeen-Angus breeds, all weights, with ribbons to be awarded as premiums.

YOUNG TURKEYS MAY DEVELOP SPRADDLES

Spraddles in turkeys is a leg weakness condition that seems to be located in the hip joints. These weak joints prevent the birds from keeping their legs under their bodies. The legs, therefore, spread out at the sides.

This trouble may be caused by natural weakness of the birds; but it has been caused by the baby poults walking on smooth floors. They cannot get food "toe holds" and the legs slip to their sides, straining the hip joints. Sources of this trouble have often been found in the paper or smooth cloth used in the nursery trays, or newspapers used on brooder house floors.

Birds slightly aflicted may recover, but those badly crippled seldom survive. Some poultrymen bandage the legs at the hock joints with adhesive tape. This gives some birds enough support in their leg muscles to recover.

EAT ASPARAGUS SEVERAL WAYS AND CAN SURPLUS

Tender green stalks of asparagus growing in the garden now are signs of springtime to most people. "We had our first asparagus to-day," said a homemaker a few days ago. "My! How good it tasted."

Asparagus, like other vegetables, should be cooked only until tender in as little water and for as short a time as possible. When cooked this way the attractive green color, delicious flavor, and food value will be retained, explains Miss Eleanor Drury, home economics extension representative.

There are several ways of serving asparagus. In the plain buttered form it is delicious, or it may be escalloped, served with creamed sauce or hollandaise sauce, or in soups and salads.

If the supply is sufficient to provide all that the family can eat and a surplus besides, why not can for winter use? Miss Drury asks. For canning the asparagus should be in prime condition. Two hours from garden to can is a good rule.

"Wash the asparagus and grade for uniformity," Miss Drury urges. "After being tied in bundles to suit the length of the jars, put the asparagus in a saucepan with boiling water over the tough lower portions. Pre-cook for three minutes or cut the asparagus into 1-inch lengths, add enough water to cover, and boil for two minutes. Pack boiling hot into hot containers, cover with water in which the asparagus was boiled, and add one teaspoon of salt to each quart. Process in a pressure cooker for 40 minutes at 10 pounds pressure or in a hot water bath for two hours.

"I said good-bye to my washday troubles when I began using Chipso," says this smart young mother

BETTY, TOMMY, MRS. BENKERT AND BOB, PHOTOGRAPHED IN THEIR HOME IN DAYTON, OHIO

Snowy white . . without harsh treatment

Don't endanger clothes you have spent good money for by washing them in cheap flakes or strong, harsh soaps and powders. Chipso is not adulterated with harsh, "dirt-cutting" ingredients. It loosens dirt quickly because it is SOAPIER. Its RICHER SUDS are SAFE. Nothing in them to dry out your hands, fade colors or injure the finer pieces in the wash. And it takes so little Chipso to make a big suds that the large box at its low price is a wonderful value—the best value in rich, safe soap on the market today!

"I may have a washboard downstairs, but I don't know what it's for any more," Mrs. C. R. Benkert told us. "When you have good Chipso suds, dirt comes out without hard rubbing.

"I get more suds out of Chipso than from other laundry soaps I've tried. Chipso suds fill the tub. They don't die down to a miserable scum when the clothes go in. That is why it is so easy, with Chipso, to get the clothes clean. I don't have to boil the white pieces. Chipso makes them WHITE AS SNOW. Yet Chipso is particularly SAFE FOR COLORS. I never have any trouble with things fading now. I am sure all the clothes wear longer for being washed with such a safe soap.

"Chipso helps me hurry through dishwashing, too. It makes a rich body of suds to take up the grease and it agrees with my hands like a good toilet soap. I couldn't get along without my regular supply of Chipso. Sometimes I buy a dozen boxes at a time just to make sure of having plenty on hand!"

Chipso makes clothes wear longer

In The "Good Old Days"—Highwaywomen were almost as numerous as highwaymen in England for a long time. One of these feminine robbers who used her charms to lure travelers into traps, Catherine Langton, was convicted of theft, a capital crime in those days, and sentenced to be hanged. Sentimentalists succeeded in having the fair maiden's sentence commuted and she was ordered banished to a South African colony. Barbary pirates attacked the ship and she and other passengers were made prisoners. The Grand Seignor of the Sultan at Constantinople saw Catherine, fell in love with her, made her his favorite wife!

Handwriting Reveals Clues

Expert Says Handwriting Holds Secret Of Career To Be Followed By Child

By EDWARD HUNTER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, May 18.—A child's handwriting reveals the secret of what career it should follow when grown up, according to Rafael Schermann, internationally-known graphologist. Proper analysis of handwriting should enable parents to guide their young into professions for which they are best fitted, he declared today in an exclusive interview.

"That is not all," Schermann said "for the clues to be read in a child's handwriting often can save him or her from a life tragedy and even from suicide. I have come across numerous examples of that."

Schermann, who is reputed to have helped unravel many mysterious crimes for police departments all over the world by analyzing speciments of handwriting, told how the study of child penmanship was made part of the work of a Viennese association which assisted parents in guiding their young, particularly when in their teens.

"This experience confirmed what I had long felt—that parents often know least about their own children,' Schermann stated. "They rarely have any idea of the true instinctive desires of their young These are often writen plainly enough in their handwriting—if only they could read its true secrets and not merely what is spelled by words."

Sometimes after studying a child's handwriting, Schermann declared he advised the parents to bring their youngsters to a doctor. He revealed how astonished a mother was recently when he told her his diagnosos of her daughter's handwriting.

"Your daughter is extraordinaryily precocious; she should get married as she wishes," he advised.

Inclination to melancholia, always a dangerous tendency among children and a warning to their parents, could be read in the handwriting of the young people, Schermann said.

Only after both the talent and health of a child are made known to him by handwriting, can advice be given on what profession or career to follow, he added.

Man And Woman Convicted Of Stealing Boy

Former Circus Performers Held For Kidnaping Of Boy 16 Years Ago

(International News Service)

TOLEDO, Ohio., May 18.—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lee Coyle, of Detroit, former circus performers, Thursday awaited sentence for child stealing after their conviction on charges of kidnaping their fosterson, Arthur Paul Ferguson, 18, from his real parents 16 years ago.

A common pleas jury returned a guilty verdict one and one-half hours after the two weeks trial ended. Mrs Edith Ferguson Smart, of Galion, Ohio, had filed the child-stealing charges, claiming the Coyles disappeared with her child when she left him in their care one night in 1918.

A complication arose after the jury verdict when the youth involved in the case insisted that he was going to remain with the Coyles "because they have been kind to me and are the only parents I have ever known. "Prosecutor Frazier Reams and attorneys for Mrs. Smart said the would attempt to induce the boy to visit Mrs. Smart's home at Galion.

Student Actor Plays Part Of Dillinger, Has Knee Shattered

Akron Youth Is Severely Wounded By Alleged "Blank Bullet"

(International News Service)

AKRON, Ohio May 18.—Roy. Christensen, who took the part of John (wooden gun) Dillinger in a high school play at suburban Barberton, Thursday nursed a shattered knee after an all too realistic ending of the modern melodrama when he was wounded by an "officer."

A fellow classmate, James Briston who had the role of patrolman, shot "Dillinger." The play had been staged once before and no shells were used in Briston's shotgun. He decided to fashion a "blank" cartridge at the second enactment When he pulled the trigger, a deafening roar echoed through the auditorium and Christensen fell to the stage, his knee shattered.

The blank had not been made correctly.

YOU CAN USE MOST THINGS that grow out of the ground just as soon as they are harvested. But not so with cigarette tobaccos ...not if you want them to be mild and taste right.

It takes many months of ageing in the wood—2½ to 3 years to be exact—to bring out the flavor and mildness of the tobaccos—just as it takes many months of ageing to bring out the flavor of rare wines.

It means something that Chesterfield tobaccos are aged and mellowed like fine wines—it helps to give Chesterfield its milder and better taste.

On Court House Hill

Deputy Sheriff Benjamin E. Hartland was out to-day putting up sheriff sale bills on the properties which are to be sold on executions. There are 21 properties on the list, the largest since Sheriff Edward Pritchard assumed office.

Judge R. L. Hildebrand has announced that a session of court will be held on next Saturday morning Attorneys who have motions or petitions can present them at that time

Sheriff Edward Pritchard has posted notices to the effect that distribution of the proceeds of recent sheriff sales will be made unless objections are raised to the schedule within ten days from the posting of the notices on May 15th. The distribution is on properties sold on the 7th of May.

As a result of the small vote cast on last Tuesday the county commissioners have on hands about half a wagon load of ballots which were not used. These ballots were returned by the judges in the various election precincts, when the returns of Tuesday's election were made In figuring out the number of ballots to be printed it is the custom to print 20 per cent more than the registration shows. The returned ballots will be stored away for a reasonable time so that in case there are any election contests, the number of ballots for any given district and the number returned can be shown.

County commissioners report that the Harbor bridge is showing the effects of the heavy traffic that has been detoured over it by reason of the closing of the New Castle-New Bedford road, while improvements are being made. The Harbor bridge is of comparatively light construction, and was never intended for the heavy trucks that are now going over it. There was a report that the signs, showing the carrying capacity of the bridge had been torn down but when the commissioners visited it yesterday they were still intact. Several of the new planks recently put on the floor of the bridge, were found to have been broken.

Some confusion seems to exist regarding the administration of the widows assistance fund, pensions for the blind and pensions for aged persons, according to the county commissioners. Many people seem to think that the county commissioners administer this fund. This is not the case, and instead of applying to the commissioners, applicants should apply to Mrs. Elmer E. Crawford, 425 Sheridan avenue, of the Mothers Assistance board. Widows pensions are based on $20 per month for the widow and $10 for each dependent child. One half the cost of pensions is paid by the county and one half by the state.

Pensions for the blind and for aged persons are paid by the state from proceeds of the liquor license tax. The pensions allowed blind persons is $40 per month. In the case of pensions for the aged, a man, to qualify for $30 a month must have reached the age of 70 years, have no children able to keep him, and no real estate of the value of over $1600. A man and wife over 70 gets $45.

As soon as the vote cast at the recent election is counted here, return judges will be appointed to meet with similar judges from Butler and Beaver counties to make the official count of the vote cast for congress. It has been the custom for return judges to meet in Beaver. An effort is to be made to have the congressional vote counted first, in order that there may be as little delay as possible in getting the official figures for the district.

Clerks in the county commissioners office are now engaged in writing in descriptions of properties on the assessors books as provided for in recent act of assembly. When the assessments were made separate slips of paper were provided for the descriptions, as it was realized that it would delay the work if the assessors had to copy all the descriptions in the assessors books. It was necessary to get the valuation computations made as quickly as possible in order that the tax millage could be set.

Gettle Kidnapers Convinced Crime "Does Not Pay"

(International News Service)

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., May 18.—"Kidnaping doesn't pay!"

These were the words of James Kirk, "master mind" of the William F. Gettle kidnaping plot, as he and two of his associates entered San Quentin prison probably to remain for the rest of their lives.

Roy Williams, "finger man" in the kidnaping echoed the words of the "boss man" while a third member of the trio, Larry Kerrigan, refused to say anything but as he stood dejectedly by he was mute evidence that the "snatch racket" is a non-paying one.

Less than eight days after Gettle was hustled away from his home at Arcadia, Cal., his three abductors heard the prison gates close permanently behind them Thursday.

TAKING NO CHANCES

(International News Service)

MADRID, N. M.—A novel, but highly effective, method of committing suicide was hit upon by Saloman Rivera, 50-year-old coal miner living here. He tied a piece of dynamite to his neck and then touched it off with an electric current from a light socket. The blast that followed blew his head off and shattered the glass in the windows of his home.

MARGARET IS HAPPY AND GAY SINCE TAKING VENDOL TONIC

Mother Tells How The New Medicine Gave A Wonderful Appetite, Helped Her Stomach And Now She Romps And Plays Like Other Healthy Children.

MISS MARGARET ANDRECHIK

"All of us are feeling very friendly to Vendol since it has done so much for my little eight year old daughter Margaret," said Mrs. Mary Andrechik, of 30 W. Terrace Avenue, New Castle. This family has lived in New Castle many years and are wide and favorably known in a wide circle of friends, so this statement will have much influence.

"Before we started Margaret taking Vendol, she had such poor appetite that she would even sit at the table and cry, saying she was not hungry. I prepared special food for her but nothing tasted good. I am sure her stomach was out of order, for even a glass of milk would disagree with her at times and she would throw it up. She was not like most children, wanting to eat a sandwich or bread and butter between meals, and sometimes her stomach would feel so sore that she would jump and scream with pain that I would have to put a hot water bag on her.

"She was always feeling tired, had no life in her, was nervous and restless at night, and her skin looked pale and yellow.

"Four days after she started taking Vendol she said, 'Mother, I'm so hungry.' She has now finished her third bottle and has a wonderful appetite. She eats hearty meals with two big sandwiches at noon. Her sleep is sound and she never kicks or turns over, and jumps out of bed every morning full of life. Her complexion has cleared up, and she never complains of pains in her stomach any more. I have advised several of my neighbors to start their children on Vendol and I am sure it will help any child who is like Margaret used to be."

If you are not feeling your very best, come to the New Castle Drug Co., 31 E. Washington Street, ask for me, the Vendol Man, and I will tell you how my splendid medicine will help you as it has so many people right here in town. So, come today if possible.

BORAH MAKES STRONG ATTACK ON TARIFF BILL

Senator Sees Danger In Bill

Declares Move To Give President Tariff Making Power Is Unconstitutional

REPUBLICANS ARE SOLIDLY OPPOSED

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 18—The attack of Senator William E. Borah (R) of Idaho, on the administration's tariff bill today startled the Senate but failed to dent the overwhelming Democratic majority favoring its enactment.

Borah branded the bill as unconstitutional because it delegated the taxing power to the president. He called this a "dangerous trend," and a furtive changing of our form of government from a constitutional democracy.

The bill would authorize the president to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements with foreign nations in an effort to recover some $6,000,000,000 of lost foreign commerce. For trading purposes he would be empowered to slash tariff duties by 50 per cent although the slashed duties would apply to all nations. He would hold this power three years.

Republicans Battle Program

The Republicans are fighting it almost solidly and sponsored many amendments, all pointed toward limiting the president's proposed powers. Administration leaders revealed opposition to all modifying amendments when Senators Pat Harrison (D) of Mississippi, in charge of the bill, refused to accept one, exempting agriculture products from the tariff-slashing provision.

One by Senator Reed (R) of Pennsylvania, would compel the president to submit all agreements to the senate for ratification just as every treaty is ratified.

Some amendments were proposed by the Democrats too. Senator Fletcher (D) of Florida offered one prohibiting the president from slashing any tariff duty below the difference in cost of production at home and abroad. Another by Senator Copeland (D) of New York, would exempt drugs from the president's proposed powers.

The president apparently will win the Senate but the Republicans will carry their fight to the country and this bill will become one of the main issues in the fall elections. The "tip-off" was given by Borah.

You Meet 3 Kidnapers.

Efficient Justice.

Two "Molls."

And Two Postscripts.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

LOS ANGELES, May 17.

THIS IS written to let some millions of readers know what kidnapers look like, what they say, how they act. The writer spent four and one half hours this morning with the three Los Angeles kidnapers that have been caught, much to the credit of all concerned, including the kidnapers' own stupidity, have confessed, have been tried and sentenced to prison for life, the trial lasting only fourteen minutes.

They will be on their way to San Quentin Prison this evening, unless the federal government delays matters, with a second trial for using the mails to defraud. The Sheriff hopes the federal trial will be rushed through this afternoon, if it is held, that he may get the men started for San Quentin tonight. Holding kidnapers is uncertain work, with the public mood as it is.

ON THE GROUND floor of the Hall of Justice skyscraper, downtown in oldest Los Angeles, in Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz' office, you meet those chiefly concerned in the capture of the kidnapers, including Captain William J. Bright, head of the homicide squad. Every department, local police, Sheriff's office, United States District Attorney, have worked together well to bring about capture, conviction and sentence within a week after the crime.

Captain Bright, however, a big man in plain clothes, with keen eye and powerful underjaw, "knocked over" the case. A case is "knocked over" when the guilty are caught and the thing is settled.

This is how the "knocking over" occurred:

Jimmy Kirk, the "brains" of the kidnaping plot, was arrested on suspicion of robbery, no thought of his being a kidnaper. Captain Bright went through his pockets and did not neglect a small card which he proudly shows you. On that card you will see written "Gettle," name of the man kidnaped.

It is a forgery of Gettle's writing, exactly the same as was used on a bogus check for $250 sometime ago. And the card is the business card of N. W. Zimmer, real estate agent, 2611 Foothill boulevard. He, quite innocently, rented to the kidnapers the small house used by them as their "hideout" at 4256 Rosemont avenue, ten miles from Mr. Gettle's house, rent $22 a month, to conceal Gettle, the victim.

YOU ASK Captain Bright how it was possible, that the kidnaper, especially "the brains" of the enterprise, should let the card remain in his pocket. Says Captain Bright:

"Oh, they all slip one way or another."

Sheriff Biscailuz and Captain Bright, both born in downtown Los Angeles on opposite sides of the gas house, a mile and a half from the prison, know their work, and would like you to know that there has never been a kidnaping in their part of the world without the kidnapers being caught.

The actors in the kidnaping plot, and their careers, are outlined by the Sheriff as follows:

First, Jimmy Kirk, "the brains," 38 years old. He was a pipe welder on Signal Hill, until prohibition came offering better earnings at bootlegging. He first took up bootlegging as a sideline, combined with welding, then to bootlegging only. He made his headquarters in a five-story warehouse, one of the biggest bootleg distilleries in California, turning out thousands of gallons a day, worth at retail a million dollars a week.

Jimmy Kirk, by himself, was not quite as big as that, however. He really worked for others.

KIDNAPER NO. 2 is Larry Kerrigan, whose record, according to the police, includes small scale bootlegging.

No conviction of felony for any of the kidnapers is on record. None of the three is foreign born, except Jimmy Kirk, who came from British Columbia, when he was two weeks old.

This kidnaping is not the work of "undesirable foreigners."

Kidnaper No. 3, "booked" as Roy Tate, was the "finger man," the one chosen to point out the victim. He did cement work on the pool on Mr. Gettle's estate, and his job was to "point the finger" at the right man when kidnaping time came.

His real name he assures you later, is not Tate, but Williams, and police believe him.

NOW YOU may see the three kidnapers under sentence of life imprisonment, summoned to the visitors' room in the prison high up in the city skyscraper called "The Hall of Justice."

It would not be easy for any mob to get at them there. The Sheriff has summoned them, and introduces them as they sit side by side.

Kirk, "the brains," sits on the left, Kerrigan next, Williams, the "finger man," next. All are dressed in overalls of blue denim made in the prison. Kirk's, too long, are turned up ten inches, at the bottom. Reading left to right as you face them, they are "the brains," Kirk and Kerrigan with light blue eyes, and last, Williams, "finger man," a beaming, highly cheerful and childish person, with brown eyes.

Kirk, hair very thin on top, and blonde, a man above average intelligence, talks frankly, showing none of the "toughness" that police attribute to him. But the toughness, police say, is there.

Captain Bright has told you:

"Kirk is tough. He would not come through, or admit anything. The other two confessed in writing. We showed him their confessions and asked, 'What have you to say now?'"

He replied:

"What CAN I say? Yes, I was in it, I did it. But take these handcuffs off, and I'll dash those two guys' heads together and bash their brains out."

* * * * * * * * *

P. S.—SINCE the interview the kidnapers and the two young women have been arraigned in a United States court, charged with sending letters of extortion through the mails. All have pleaded not guilty, all indicted, and will be brought to trial, May 29. If convicted they may be sentenced to forty-two years in prison and twenty thousand dollars fine each under the federal law, which knows no parole. That would mean REAL LIFE IMPRISONMENT.

P. P. S.—IF YOU had been a newspaper man for fifty years, and had observed what "civilization," and some men in it, do to girls thrown out into the gutters of a big city; if you knew how little chance they have, how entirely they are at the mercy of the criminals that own them, you would divide any prison term for those girls among the men and seek some way to atone, to those unhappy young women, for the horrible life forced upon them.

COUNTERFEIT KEEPSAKE

(International News Service)

BRATTLEBORO, Vt.—For half a century a $2.50 gold coin was kept as a family keepsake, according to a man who brought it to a local bank here because of the federal rule against gold hoarding. The teller looked at it sharply, dropped it on the counter and then handed it back to the man. It was a counterfeit and not a gold coin.

Election Rent Money Due City

Solicitor's Opinion Says County Should Pay City For Fire Stations' Use

CANNOT BE PAID TO INDIVIDUALS

Payment of money for primary elections held in fire houses of New Castle is considered city revenue and should be paid to the city treasurer and not to firemen according to an opinion given city officials yesterday by Solicitor White, who was asked to delve into the matter.

According to the opinion, the county controller adviser White, according to the opinion that he has held up the payment of the money for the primary elections held recently for the use of five engine houses and he also claims that the money heretofore paid has been charged as rent.

The act of 1876 gives the county commissioners right to pay election expenses, according to the opinion. The law says: "The commissioners of the several counties of this commonwealth are hereby authorized and empowered to fix the compensation for lights, rent and fuel for election purposes in each and every township, borough, ward and election district in the respective counties."

Is Clearly Rent

According to the opinion from the city solicitor, the act seems to limit the authority of the commissioners and he opines that the money which the commissioners have paid for the use of the fire houses in the past is clearly rent and can be nothing else, no matter how any persons may fit to designate it.

The money, being rent, is a part of the general revenues of the city and should have been paid to the city treasurer and distributed and disbursed according to law. According to a section of the Third class city code, it provides:

"No person of the property of the city shall be used for private gain by any officer of the city, councilman, agent or employ of said city or any department thereof; nor shall the same be wilfully used or injured or be sold or disposed of in any manner by any officer, councilman, agent or employe without the consent of council." The opinion says that this section makes the taking of any property of the city or the using of it for private purposes a misdemeanor.

The solicitor's opinion says that if council is of the opinion that any employe of the city, is entitled to extra compensation for preparing the engine house to be used as voting places, the council would have authority to designate the amount of such extra compensation and the persons to whom it sould be rightfully paid, but such compensation must be disbursed as all other city expenses through the treasurer and other channels.

Inspectors Seize Stills In State

Report Work Done In Pennsylvania During Week Ending May 5

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 18.—Inspectors of the Bureau of Industrial Alcohol were unusually active in Pennsylvania during the week ended May 5 and seized property of greater value in that state than in any other, the Treasury Department reports.

During the week inspectors of the bureau made seven arrests in the Keystone state and confiscated property worth $10,900. Seizures included three stills with a capacity of 3,000 gallons, and 810 gallons of spirits and 55,025 gallons of mash. The mash seizures were greater in Pennsylvania than in any other state as was the value of property confiscated.

In Ohio, eight stills with a capacity of 1,880 gallons were seized. Two arrests were made and 180 gallons of spirits with 2,550 gallons of mash were taken over. Activities of inspectors in West Virginia included seven arrests and the seizure of two stills, 48 gallons of spirits and 245 gallons of mash.

VERY MUCH ALIVE

DENVER—Legally dead—so dead in fact, that his relatives had collected on his insurance policies—the Rev. Val Higgins, head of the Citizen's Mission here, recently returned to Albany, N. MEN WITH PEP WIN BIG REWARDS

Life's battle isn't always to the strong, but the 100% man has the better of it every way. Weakness counts against any one.

Men who have lost their pep, men who fail to get full enjoyment out of life, men whose nerves make themselves known—all these know they are handicapped. Many of them have found renewed vigor and strength through the use of World's Tonic—the new medicine that has made so many friends in New Castle, Pa.

Its upbuilding effect is noticeable almost from the first dose. It invigorates, helps clean the system, aids and enriches the blood, steadies the nerves, aids the digestion—just the course required to help bring back full strength and add that zest that makes life worth living.

Take it yourself. You will know its benefits only from actual experience. World's Tonic is sold at $1.00 a bottle by Eckerd's, Paisley's, Smith's and the other good druggists.

"I was fearfully run down last summer, but because of my age (56) thought it only natural until I began taking World's Tonic, then my bowels began to work regularly and the gas left my stomach. I recovered my pep and strength so quickly that I have recommended it to middle aged friends, who have learned its benefits for themselves." S. C. Bruner, New Castle, Pa. (A-107)

Chamber Of Commerce Saves Home For Widow

An interesting sidelight on the unusual services sometimes rendered by the New Castle Chamber of Commerce has been brought to light thru the project questionnaires recently sent out to the leading business and professional men and women of the community.

Constantly on the alert, not only to foster and promote those things that are good for the community, but likewise to forestall projects that are detrimental to the welfare of the citizens of New Castle. The Chamber of Commerce, within the past year, saved the home of a widow who had, unknowingly, signed a judgment note for nearly $2,000 for a group of out-of-town promoters. For the first time and as a result of the recent questionnaire, the story may now be told.

The widow was approached by the promoters who offered to make certain alterations to her home, her sole possession. Her home, after having been remodeled, so the promoters represented, was to be shown as a "sample" house. In return for permitting them to bring "prospects" there to inspect the sample house, the widow was to receive a commission on all sales which might be made. She was then asked to sign a "working agreement" which she did (without reading the document) and which later turned out to be a judgment note for near $2,000.

Realizing too late what she had signed, the case was turned over to an attorney. The promoters were from a distant city. Immediately they placed a lien in their county against the widow's home, which meant that any court action against them must be fought out in the courts of that county. The attorney for the widow felt the case was hopeless, from a legal standpoint. As a last resort, the widow brought her story to the office of the Chamber of Commerce. Tracers were put on the individuals perpetrating the promotion scheme through agencies available to the Chamber of Commerce, and similar cases were uncovered in nearby communities. The Chamber of Commerce in the city from which the promoters operated entered into the investigation and gradually a net was drawn around the so-called president of the promotion outfit.

Confronted with his record, after the first show of fight, he asked the local Chamber of Commerce office if they would withdraw their action against his "company" if he withdrew the judgment against the widow's home and returned the judgment note. This was agreed to and her home was saved. Without an adequate, fully-functioning Chamber of Commerce there would have been other local victims of this same swindle. The widow in question, needless to say, is today a staunch booster for the New Castle Chamber of Commerce.

Tyler's Stolen Auto Is Found

Machine Of Former Mayor Is Abandoned On Mt. Jackson Road

Stolen on Tuesday evening, the automobile of Walter V. Tyler was found Wednesday on the road between Mt. Jackson and Bessemer. According to a witness who saw the driver of the car get out on the road the man who had it was a heavy set chap about 50 years of age who apparently drove it until it was out of gas and then abandoned it. It is thought that he hitchhiked into New Castle after abondoning the car.

Any motorist who saw such a hitch hiker on the road mentioned on Wednesday afternoon is asked to communicate with the State Highway patrol.

WANTED: GOOD CHRISTIAN LEADERS

Editor The News,
New Castle, Pa.

Dear Brother and Sister Citizens of New Castle and Lawrence County:

Brother Grangers, I humbly make this plea for the unemployed, which I come in contact with most every day. Men out of work, hundreds of them. Dear people, don't you think this is a tragedy to permit such a wrong? Help us to pray to God that we may be able to lay all selfishness aside and do something for the progress of New Castle and Lawrence county. If we don't do something to help this wonderful project along, we will have riots and all sorts of evil things to contend with. Here we have this wonderful project. Get this mental picture: "Wanted, good leaders to lead us out of the wilderness into the light!" We are just like the children of Israel. Hunting this project for forty years. Now we have it all ready. Even the money is waiting for some good leader to say, "Let's go and build this high, level viaduct, 600 feet long, from the east to the north side of the city." It will link up six paved highways entering New Castle, thus relieving heavy downtown traffic congestion. It will also afford easy access to the Senior and Junior high schools, for from four to eight hundred scholars, hospitals, parks, fairgrounds, consistory building, two large cemeteries, and many other places built on the high level. A great benefit for all New Castle and Lawrence county people. Help us to progress. Are we going to permit this? Without a vision we perish. To let selfishness come into our lives and rob us of happiness, to keep us in the wilderness.

The cement plant shut down. No orders.

Dear people, can't you see how many people this throws out of work. Of course times are better than they were a year ago. But consider the one million dollars relief which came into New Castle and Lawrence county this last year. What have we done for all this help? Nothing. There are lots of people willing to work if they had it. Think it over. Parks, streets and roads will not take care of all the unemployed.

What of it if we do pay a little more taxes? Is it not worth it? Look at the good we are doing. Why strain at a gnat, and swallow a camel?

I recommend the study of Christianity in our government. That would settle all trouble. That would settle the wars. Roosevelt is doing all he can to bring back prosperity. Let us help him. I believe in a four-square person, which means, Christianity, Physical, Mental and Social. This is my Father's world, and if we expect Christianity, we must help our brother to get work. Why not, when we have this $250,000 handed to us? God pity the persons that have blocked this project. But it is not too late to repent.

Cost Of Viaduct

The estimated bond issue would be $192,820. Interest on this amount at 4 per cent over a period of 20 years, would be $87,128. One twentieth of this amount for one year would be $13,997. The assessed valuation of real estate for the year 1934 is $67,000,000. This would involve a tax levy of about two-tenths of a mill per year on this valuation. A property assessed at $2,500, would pay approximately 50 cents per year for twenty years.

This project has been approved by the Department of Forests and Waters, Water and Power Resource Board, Harrisburg, Penna.; State Art Commission, Harrisburg, Pa.; City Planning Commission, New Castle, Pa.; Department of Highways, Harrisburg, Pa.; State Administrator PWA, Harrisburg, Pa.; Federal PWA, Washington, D. C., and federal grant for $250,000 allowed. This grant is $57,180 gift, and $192,820 bond issue. The estimated cost including engineering is $239,894. All of which was approved by the federal government. Application was made for $250,000 to take care of any unforseen difficulties. Any monies not needed on the project can be returned and credit taken therefore, or applied to pay interest on bonds.

Detailed Cost

The detailed cost of the project in labor and materials has been estimated as follows:

Concrete and abutments and pier for arch, $9,800; for labor, $8,200; concrete in arch ribs, columns, floors, etc., $57,900; labor for same, $82,500; concrete above foundations, $8,550; labor on same, $7,200; concrete in retaining walls, and column footers, $3,500; labor on same, $3,300; steel reinforcing bars, $17,320; labor in placement, $14,680; excavation for foundations, $2,100; material, $4,200; granite curbs, $1,050; labor for placement, $1,400; expansion joints complete, $280; labor in placement, $920; lamp posts, $485; labor on same, $475; name plate, material $40, labor $30; field office, $270; engineering, $15,694. This division shows an expenditure of $103,235 for materials, and $120,965 for labor.

Look at the good we will be doing. Just think of all this work which would be furnished Lawrence county people.

I believe there are people in New Castle who are smart enough to put the project over, if they would just lead out and do it. Why so much monkey business over a splendid proposition?

I am for the progress of New Castle and Lawrence county.

Ask Pymatuning Water For Mills

SHARON, Pa., May 18.—Local industries, facing a water shortage because of the low stage of the Shenango river, today requested state officials to order the release of water from the Pymatuning dam, the gates of which were closed in January. The reservoir at the dam is about half filled, assuring an adequate stream flow here as soon as the release of water is ordered.

According to mill executives, the present flow in the river is only about half what it should be to prevent inconvenience in operating on present high schedules.

Experienced criminals don't hide in remote rural regions. They feel unsafe that far from a lawyer.

Get New Facts On Dillinger

Officers Wring Important Information From Bandit's Sweetheart

(International News Service)

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 18.—Government agents have wrung information from Evelyn Frechette, half-breed Indian sweetheart of John Dillinger, which is expected to lead to the capture of America's No. 1 desperado.

This was disclosed at the trial of Miss Frechette, in progress here today, on charges of harboring the fugitive from the United States government.

Murray C. Faulkner, department of justice operative, who testified concerning his questioning of Miss Frechette, was cross-examined by Defense Attorney Thomas McMeekin.

McMeekin demanded of Faulkner: "Why did you stop where you did in giving the jury your story of Miss Frechette's statement?"

Faulkner replied:

"We obtained other information from her, but we would rather keep it from the public, since it may be valuable in catching Dillinger."

After the regular meeting these girls met and nominated the members who in their opinion were the two best candidates for each position. At the meeting to be held next Monday, the club may make additional nominations if they so desire and a general election will be held.

Homework Provides Means Of Chiseling

There Are 15,000 Homeworkers In State Of Pennsylvania

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 18.—Unregulated homework provides an incentive to "chisel" on NRA codes, Secretary of Labor and Industry Charlotte E. Carr said today in commenting on an injunction suit in New York to prevent enforcement of a code provision prohibiting homework.

"I am particularly concerned with the effect such a decision against the NRA would have in Pennsylvania," Miss Carr said, explaining that there are about 15,000 homeworkers in all industries in the state with average earnings of nine cents an hour.

"It is clear," she continued, "that if homework is to be permitted and not to come under the minimum wage provisions of the codes that will be a definite throwback to the lowest form of sweatshop conditions. Unregulated homework provides every incentive to beat the codes, which provide minimum wages and maximum hours in the mills."

OPPOSE SUICIDE NEWS

(International News Service)

CINCINNATI, O.—The Optimist club passed a resolution appealing to all newspapers in the state to discontinue the publishing of suicide news, citing that "to predisposed or individuals contemplating suicide, the description of the acts as well as the methods employed are highly suggestive."

Iron and steel plants in Czechoslovakia are working at about one-third of capacity.

Mother Guards the Family's Health

When you see a father working happily to support his family, and making a good job of it—when you see healthy ruddy cheeked children enjoying their play—you can be sure there is a mother in that home who knows how to feed her family.

Whatever else she gives them, they probably get at least one meal a day of Shredded Wheat, milk and fruit!

Shredded Wheat is whole wheat—nothing added—nothing taken away—in most digestible form. It contains the carbohydrates you need for energy; the proteins you need for tissue building; the mineral salts you need for bone structure; the vitamins that help you resist disease; and bran to keep you regular. Nature might have made a better food than wheat—but she didn't!

Eat plenty of Shredded Wheat—it's good for you—will pay you big dividends in health and happiness!

Illinois Seeks Davis' Custody

Extradition Proceedings Are Under Way; Davis In Pittsburgh Jail

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 18—Illinois prepared today to fight for extradition of Thomas Davis, Jr. 10 who was recently acquitted of murdering State Highway Patrolman Herbert Brantlinger of Blairsville.

Two sheriffs and a deputy were to attempt return of the youth to Illinois today for trial on charges he shot a deputy in Carlyle, Ill. then fled through the state on a fiction-like crime career, including kidnaping at gunman's point, a gasoline station holdup, gun battles with police and four automobile thefts.

Waivers of extradition purportedly signed by young Davis—still in county jail—were said to be in possession of the Illinois authorities.

"I am ready to battle to block any attempt to take the boy out of the state" defense attorney Robert Ivory, Jr. declared.

Informed of Illinois representatives intentions, Ivory denied any knowledge of the boy signing a waiver of extradition proceedings.

"If the extradition is authorized" Ivory said, "I will institute habeas corpus preceedings here to prevent the boy's return."

Besides Illinois charges, Davis still faces robbery, entering a building and involuntary manslaughter counts here.

Unable to raise $30,000 bond, he has remained in jail since his acquittal here.

Firemen Tell Of Altercation

Civil Service Board And Council Air Fire Station Trouble

DISPUTE OVER REGISTRATION PAY

Civil Service board and council heard aired Thursday afternoon in city hall, charges which had been preferred recently by Safety Director D. O. Davies against Firemen Lou McCreary and Captain of Fifth ward house firemen, A. P. McIlwain. The hearing was adjourned by council until today.

Both were charged with conduct unbecoming a fireman. Whatever decision must be made will be rendered by council as the civil service board will only approve or disapprove of the finding after the hearing is completed.

The charges grew out of an altercation which occurred over the distribution of monies paid by the county commissioners growing out of work done in connection with registration day in the Fifth ward fire house April 25.

As a result of the hearing an opinion had been given city officials which says that if council believes the firemen are entitled to the extra money the council must designate the amount and to whom it should be paid.

Chief Stockman, his assistant James Thomas and Lieutenant Harper were among the witnesses. McCreary had telephoned to Harper who informed Thomas there was trouble at the Fifth ward house. Thomas was at the home of Stockman who was ill. Thomas went to the station house, suspended both and on the witness stand said he did not see the trouble, had been told of it, but his only material evidence was that he saw McCreary's head lacerated.

Fireman Testifies

McIlwain was called. He said that as captain of the fire station a check had been sent to the Fifth ward station to pay for cleaning up the place which is used for registration and voting purposes. The check was cashed by another fireman. McIlwain was given the money to divide and he said: "I took the money went to McCreary and said "I'm going to pay you this time but if you pull another stunt like you did the other day (April 25th—the trouble occurred on April 27) I won't pay you anything."

McIlwain testified that McCreary threatened him in reply.

McIlwain claims he then said: "You can't call me that and get away with it." He testified he seized McCreary by the throat and alleged McCreary attempted to kick him. In avoiding the kick the captain testified "I shoved my hand out and it touched him on the chest. The chair upset and his head struck the wall."

Firemen Get Money

It then was brought out by Commissioner McFate that the money talked of had come from the county commissioners for the firemen to take care of the room on registration day. Four firemen were to divide the $10.00.

He then was questioned further about the fight and said that he had grasped McCreary's leg with one hand when he attempted to rise from the chair and kick him. In the act the chair upset and McCreary fell backward.

Captain McIlwain charged that McCleary had not done his regular firemen's work and had not done any work of cleaning up in connection with the registration. He admitted he had not made any complaint to his superiors claiming he did not want to run and complain because some of the men in the department claimed he was hard to get along with. He did testify however, that on several occasions he had asked for a transfer from the house.

He said possibly McCreary could have answered an alarm even though hurt. Dr. Ed Cooper testified of putting nine or ten stitches in McCreary's head and said he did not believe he would have been able to answer a fire alarm after the altercation.

McCreary Testifies

Fireman McCreary was called. He said he had gone to work, changed his clothing and set down to read the paper in the rear of the building.

He said Fireman Slovonsky came into the fire house with the money to be paid the firemen for matters in connection with registration work. Slovonsky gave the money to Captain McIlwain, McCleary said.

McCreary testified that McIlwain put some money on a table along which McCreary was seated and said: "That's the last .....money you'll get."

"I answered: "What the ....have you got to do with it?"

McCreary claims that McIlwain seized him by the leg and said: 'Take off your glasses."

He further declared that McIlwain dumped me back over the chair and my head hit the wall."

The impact dazed him but he felt something warm on the back of his head, put his hand there and saw blood.

"I said,: Now look what you have done," McIlwain testified.

McCreary went upstairs, put a towel about his head, then returned downstairs and telephoned Lieutenant Harper at Central informing him there had been trouble and through this message Assistant Chief Thomas was at the Fifth ward house within 15 minutes and both were suspended.

He said that if you do work there McIlwain goes over it again. He said that McIlwain worked and the place was always kept clean. He admitted the quarrel April 27 had grown out of the April 25 registration day matter. McCreary denied calling McIlwain bad names.

When McIlwain was asked if he had struck another man four years ago he said yes and testified it was in self protection.

Thousand Eggs Daily Are Being Laid Now At State Game Farm

Out at the Jordan State Game farm, (about six stone throws from Harlansburg,) 1350 ringneck pheasant hens are doing some high powered egg laying in payment for their board and pens this winter. They are completely disregarding the eight-hour day and five-day week and have been producing in the neighborhood of 1,000 eggs a day. That is a lot of eggs no matter how you count them, and the eggs of today are the pheasants of tomorrow, you know.

And when the hens are busy, Superintendent V. T. Warfel and his men are busy. In addition to the regular duties about the huge acreage they are gathering the eggs from the laying fields, placing a large part of them in the electric incubator and packing others for shipment to various sportsmen's organizations throughout the state of Pennsylvania.

Every fourth day about 2,000 eggs are placed in the electric incubator. To date 14,000 eggs have been set and the first batch of young pheasants (about 2,000 in number) has been hatched. About that many more will see the light of day for the first time tomorrow. The total production of eggs in the laying fields this season to date is about 27,000. Many of these have been shipped out to various districts of the state.

The electric incubating system has been successful beyond all anticipation. Abaut 77 per cent of all eggs set have been hatched. Most of those not hatched were not fertile. When bantam hens were used for hatching at the farm only about 71 per cent of the eggs were hatched. Much of the loss was due at that time to eggs being broken. Many of the young pheasants would not live after hatching because of being trampled by the foster mothers.

It takes a period of twenty-four days for a pheasant egg to metamorphose into a saucy little ringneck—twenty days in the electric incubator and four days in a special hatching compartment. A special process can be used to separate the fertile from infertile eggs at the end of the first twenty days. Only the fertile eggs are placed in the hatching compartment. The capacity for the incubator is about 12,000 eggs.

The orphan pheasant chicks are taken directly to the brooder houses after stepping from their shells and there they stay until they are about six weeks old. There are about 200 chicks to a house, and 50 houses, with a total capacity for 20,000 birds. The brooder houses will be filled twice during the season.

When of the age when they can take care of themselves, the young pheasants will be sent to various districts of the state and released by sportsmen and game wardens. If they are real smart, good pals of Lady Luck and meet none but "poor shots" they will get through the fall hunting season and brag to their little grandpheasants of the feat in the spring.

The Future Of The Kingdom

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Rev. 11:15—"The kingdom of the world is become the kingdom of our Lord, and of his Christ: and he shall reign for ever and ever."

(The international uniform lesson on the above topic for May 20 is Matthew 24:1-25:30, especially 25:1-13, the Golden Text being Revelations 11:15, "The kingdom of the world is become the kingdom of our Lord, and of his Christ: and he shall reign for ever and ever.")

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

In the "Olivet discourse" in Matthew 24 and 25 we have one of the five principal discourses of our Lord recorded in the New Testament, a great prophetic revelation of the consummation of this present age. Out of apparent impending failure in the shadow of his cross, Jesus calmly surveys the ages and predicts for himself and his program the position of continual supremacy.

When and How of Christ's Coming

Two questions of his disciples precipitated this great prophetic panoramic portrayal of history. One question dealt with its time and another with its manner, the when and the how of Christ's coming: "Tell us, when shall these things be? and what shall be the sign of the coming, and of the end of the world?" To answer these questions he gave them an outline of history dealing chiefly with Israel from the destruction of Jerusalem, fulfilled in the year 70 A. D., through the period of tribulation attending his coming in the clouds with power and great glory.

The Present Age's Characteristics

In 24:4-14 Jesus portrays the characteristics of this present age in which we are now living and which must end in the consummation of tribulation and glory he here outlines.

It was to be characterized by the prevalence of false teachers in the realm of religion: "Take heed that no man lead you astray. For many shall come in my name saying, I am the Christ; and shall lead many astray.' Another characteristic shall be the prevalence of "wars and rumors of wars—for nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom, and there shall be famines and earthquakes in divers places. But all these things are the beginning of travail." We may call it post-war depression and regard it as chiefly economic, and thus perhaps miss its spiritual implications which might suggest more serious reflections as to whether the world's present tribulation may not be a harbinger of the consummation Jesus predicted 1,900 years ago on the Mount of Olives! In the meantime our obligation is the evangelization of the world in preparation for our Lord's return, for "this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in the whole world for a testimony unto all nations: and then shall the end come."

The Period of Israel's Tribulation

Attending our Lord's return in glory he predicted a brief period of unprecedented tribualtions for God's people Israel. He couples this specifically with certain predictions of the same sort in the prophecy of Daniel of "the abomination of desolation": "Except those days had been shortened, no flesh would have been saved: but for the elect's sake those days shall be shortened."

The Lord's Glorious Coming.

The signs point as certainly to the Lord's glorious coming again as the buds of spring point forward to summer. It's date is not to be set by us of "of that day and hour knoweth no one, not even the angels of heaven, neither the Son but the Father". Our obligation is to be that of the watchfulness of the "faithful and wise servant", the readiness of the wise virgins who kept oil in their lamps and the faithfulness of the good servant who made profitable use of his Lord's talents.

50 YEARS A MARTYR TO CONSTIPATION

But Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought Welcome Relief

Read this splendid letter from Mrs. Haynes:

"For 50 years I have been a martyr to constipation. Have tried every remedy under the sun.

"One day I read an account of some one who had been relieved by ALL-BRAN, but I thought 'What was the use of me trying anything more when all else had failed?'

"A while after, I read it again. That time I thought I would try it, it would do no harm anyway.

"I began with a small dish of your ALL-BRAN for breakfast, and wonderful to say, I never need to take any physic at all now. How I wish other poor sufferers from constipation could be persuaded to try it."—Mrs. Sarah Haynes, 138 Cedarwood Terrace, Rochester, N. Y.

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regular habits. Also iron for the blood.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. It's so much safer than taking patent medicines! Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. Severe cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get this delicious ready-to-eat cereal from your grocer. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Ease Interest Rate Of Farmers

Production Credit Loans Will Bear Less Interest, Haag Is Informed

SEE INCREASE IN NUMBER OF LOANS

L. D. Haag, secretary-treasurer of the Butler Production Credit Association, has received word from S. M. Garwood, production credit commissioner of the Farm Credit Administration in Washington, D. C., that about $25,000,000 in production loans and approvals has already been granted through production credit associations and that the volume of loans is expected to increase as the season advances.

"A part of this money has been paid out in our county," Mr. Haag said. "From its office in Butler the Association is now making an increase number of loans to farmers in Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Butler, Clarion, Jefferson and Lawrence counties, for the purpose of growing crops and for purchasing work-stock and farming supplies for the season's operations.

The loans are made on crop, livestock and equipment security.

Mr. Haag has just received word from Governor W. I. Myers of the Farm Credit Administration in Washington, D. C., that the interest rate on new loans from productions credit association has been reduced from 5½ to 5 per cent and becomes effective immediately.

"The new interest rate of 5 per cent will not effect loans already advanced in full," Mr. Haag said. "These will continue to bear the rate of interest prevailing at the time the loan was closed. The interest charges on loans from the Association are collected when the loans mature.

"The reduction of the interest to 5 per cent on new loans," Mr. Haag continued, "is made possible by a recent sale of Federal Intermediate Credit Bank debentures to investors at an unusually low rate of interest. The Association gets money to lend farmers from the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Baltimore. So practically speaking, the Butler Production Credit Association derives its lending funds from the investing public and not from tax appropriations.

The lowering of the interest rate on new loans to 5 per cent is the second reduction in two months, the rate having been reduced from 6 to 5½ per cent on March 16.

Baron Bestecki Erects 100-Foot Wooden Tower On Site Adjoining Airport

(International News Service)

YORK, Pa., May 18.—The 100-foot wooden tower which Baron Bestecki has constructed on his land adjoining the Harrisburg airport was described as a "death trap" to aviators Thursday at a hearing before Alderman Walter F. Owen, of York, by Deputy Attorney General Harris Arnold.

Bestecki provided $500 bail on a charge of maintaining a nuisance preferred by the State Aeronautics Commission and was held for court by the alderman.

Defense counsel, comprised of several prominent Harrisburg and York attorneys, admitted Bestecki was responsible for construction of the tower but claimed it was erected for advertising purposes. So far, they said, there has been no occasion to use it for such purposes.

Action Taken After Hearing For Firemen

Council convened today in city council and adopted resolutions presented by Safety Director D. O. Davies relative to the hearing yesterday in which testimony was taken growing out of charges of conduct unbecoming a fireman, preferred against Captain A. P. McIlwain and Fireman Lou McCreary.

The first resolution demoted McIlwain from captain to fireman and suspended him from April 27 to May 28 without pay. The resolution was unanimously passed.

The second resolution suspended McCreary for 30 days from April 27 to May 28, without pay. The vote was four to one, Mayor Mayne having cast a negative ballot.

The men were engaged in an altercation at the Fifth ward fire station May 27 growing out of a matter which did not concern the regular duty of a fireman, it was stated. The hearing was held Thursday as recorded in another column of The News.

MISSING BOY AND PAINTED DOG MYSTERY

(International News Service)

DENVER—Denver police were recently called in to solve the mystery of the parrot-hued dog and the missing boy. Leslie Fitch, eight, disappeared, his parents reported, after painting a Pekingese puppy with brilliantly-colored paints. The dog belonged to Bobby Wilkerson, 10, a neighbor boy, with whom Leslie had had a childish disagreement.

The only clue on which sleuths could work was the report of Mrs. Thelma Wilkerson, Bobby's mother, that Leslie "ran down the alley" when she caught him painting her son's pet.

NECKLACE MUST NOT PASS FROM FAMILY

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO.—The voice of Mrs. Clarence Blum, widow of Simon Blum, wealthy candy manufacturer, spoke from the grave today to make sure that a $10,000 necklace, which has been in the family for generations, will not pass out of family hands.

In her will on file here today, Mrs. Blum directed that the necklace go to three of her granddaughters, each succeeding to its ownership on the death of the older. When all are dead the necklace must be destroyed.

SNAKE WAS BELT

(International News Service)

DENVER—"There's a big snake in my back yard," Mrs. Charles H. Thomas phoned police. Patrolmen Tom Durkop and William Hassler rushed to the Thomas home. WITHDRAW KREISLER OPUS

(International News Service)

PRAGUE.—For political reasons Fritz Kreisler's new opera "Sissy" has been withdrawn from the program of the Prague German theatre by Director Dr. Eger. A revised version of "The Merry Widow" will replace the Kreisler opus. "Sissy" gave too great a play to the Hapsburg dynasty and that is believed to have been the reason the opera was withdrawn.

In 1902 an eruption of Mt. Pelee destroyed 30,000 inhabitants of St. Pierre.

South Side Board Meets

To Ask Reconsideration Of Rosena Furnace Site For Court House

At the special meeting of the South Side Board of Trade on Thursday night, on South Mill street, members agreed to petititon Judge R. L. Hildebrand to reconsider the site for the new court house.

The south side organization favors the Rosena furnace site. President W. Druschel stated that parking space is plentiful and the site is an ideal one. "A town looks like a village when a circus occupies the center of town".

The South Side Board of Trade is going to ask council to make an electric survey. The south siders plans to ask council to construct sidewalks on the right side of Moravia street near the viaduct, going up Moravia street.

Plans for the annual South Side Board of Trade banquet, were also formulated.

DISAPPEARING INK CAUSED BOND PUZZLE

(International News Service)

DENVER—Disappearing ink caused Denver school officials considerable difficulty in establishing the validity of an issue of 500 school bonds, signed January 1, 1923. The late W. A. E. Stutt, secretary of the school board, signed them with an inferior grade of green ink. During the years the bonds lay tucked away in safety deposit boxes and safes, the signature vanished.

The board had to attach certificates to each bond, stating that they had been signed, before they could be redeemed. They were in $500 and $1,000 denominations.

ROOSEVELT FRIENDS VIE FOR POST

Eddie Dowling

Peter Gerry

A unique situation has developed in the Democratic primaries for the United States senate in Rhode Island, where two close friends of President Roosevelt, Eddie Dowling, famous comedian, and Peter Gerry, one-time treasurer of the Democratic party, former senator and publisher of a Democratic newspaper, are seeking the nomination. Despite his friendship for both candidates, President Roosevelt is expected by political observers to lean toward Dowling, who was dropped from a vaudeville circuit because he insisted upon using his song, "Row, Row With Roosevelt" in his act. He later headed the stage committee for Roosevelt's campaign.

Build Warships, But Talk Peace

Davis Leaves For Disarmament Parley As U. S. Plans Armament

PLANS TO STRENGTHEN ITS DEFENSE FORCES

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 18.— With diplomatic dispatches reporting unrest in many sections of the world, this government today moved swiftly forward with plans to strengthen its defense forces.

The navy department pushed plans for the immediate construction of 20 new warships in addition to the 34 vessels for which construction plans already are in effect.

The army awaited bids on 110 new fighting airplanes and worked on specifications for an additional 300 to 400 machines for which bids will be asked soon.

The special joint military and civilian committee headed by former secretary of war Newton D. Baker started a secret study of what else may be necessary to make America's military air service second to none in efficiency.

Leaves For Conference

Meanwhile, Ambassador Norman H. Davis has departed for Geneva to attend what many fear may be the funeral services of the present disarmament conference. President Roosevelt said Davis would make a new statement of American disarmament policy at the conference but both the president and Davis let it be known this statement is not likely to contain anything startling.

Instead, it probably will be a reiteration of America's position on disarmament, based on these three points:

1. Abolition of offensive weapons of warefare:
2. Universal pact of non-aggression wherein each nation pledges not to send its armed forces across foreign frontiers; and,
3. International supervision and control of armaments.

As to any new moves for disarmament, this government believes Europe should make them.

The situation, as seen by Davis, is as follows:

Germany refuses to rejoin the League of Nations unless granted the right to some re-armament, including establishment of a defensive air force.

France has refused to engage in any more disarmament discussions with Germany outside the league and declares it will not disarm one soldier if Germany is permitted one degree of rearmament.

Italy doesn't believe it possible to get any disarmament, thinks a certain amount of German re-armament should be legalized, and the armaments of other nations maintained at present levels.

Great Britain wants almost any kind of an agreement that doesn't involve more British security pledges, to France and will halt the present trend towards an armament race.

Preparedness for any eventualities that might follow the break up of the conference prompted this government to rush plans to strengthen the nation's defense organization.

The 20 new warships to be built with $40,000,000 PWA funds will include 12 destroyers, 2 destroyer leaders and six submarines. "These ships represent our most urgent needs," Secretary of the Navy Swanson said.

Pennsylvania Man Will Be Hanged In Slaying Of Girl

Paul H. Kauffman, World War Veteran Attacked And Killed Missouri Girl

(International News Service)

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 18.—The death sentence imposed on Paul H. Kauffman, Pennsylvania war veteran, for the murder of Avis Woolery, 17-year-old Webb City, Mo., girl, was affirmed by the Missouri supreme court today.

Miss Woolery was attacked and strangled to death August 17, 1930, in Swope park, Kansas City, Mo. Evidence at Kauffman's trial showed that he placed a want ad in a newspaper soliciting a "young white girl" to care for a small child at night.

The girl's mother communicated with Kauffman and then sent her daughter to Kansas City to take the job. Kauffman met the girl at Union station, Kansas City, and took her directly to Swope park where he assaulted her and then choked her to death, tying one of her stockings about her throat after he was sure she was dead.

Kauffman is to be hanged June 29.

Continue Probe Into Shooting Of Man By His Son

Coroner's Jury At Midland Frees Young Man For Killing Of His Father

MOTHER AND SON SUFFERED ABUSE

(International News Service)

MIDLAND, Pa., May 18—Steve Vervas, 15, farm boy, whom a coroner's jury exonerated for killing his father in defense of his mother's life was under jurisdiction of Miss Cora I. Blackledge, juvenile probation officer, today, while the district attorney's office investigated.

Steve told the jury he fired after his father, Lawrence Vervas, 47, mill worker, struck at his mother several times with a pitch fork and roared "I'm going to kill you" during a quarrel.

Confirming her son's story, the mother sobbed:

"The last five years have been hell for Stevie and me!"

Police quoted neighbors as saying Vervas was an incessant drinker and left the heavy farm work to his wife and son, the only child.

GIRL SCOUTS

TROOP NO. 3

The Girl Scouts of Troop No. 3, opened their meeting in the usual manner. Final plans were made for "Court of Awards" Second class worked on 2nd class first aid. First class scouts made final plans to pass first class first aid. The meeting closed with "taps" benediction being repeated by all.

ENTERTAIN MOTHERS

Mothers of girls belonging to Pokanoket Girl Scout Troop 13, were entertained at the meeting Wednesday evening.

Each mother was given a corsage of violets as she entered the room, these being very pretty favors.

The meeting was opened with horse shoe formation with each mother standing behind her daughter. Lois Lightner was invested.

After the formation, the mothers accompanied their daughters to patrol corners where the girls guessed the names of birds which were hidden about the room. They also played a game of "Snath" to identify plants.

Forming a large circle, the mothers heard about the hike which was taken last Saturday and the Tenderfoot girls described the requirements for investment, these including the ability to tie knots, and follow trail signs. Several pet stories were told.

The second class scouts demonstrated first aid, sling, angle bandages, how to stop bleeding, remove splinters, treatment of a fainting person and treatment of burns. The second class signalling showed the alphabet.

Two girls gave a message with flash lights, "Who is Your Dearest Friend." The answer, of course was "My dearest friend is my Mother."

Songs were sung and taps given after which a social period was enjoyed during which ice cream, cake and candy were served.

Scribe, ISABELLE DOUGLAS.

We no longer talk of "the exceptional woman", the myth was killed by the force of numbers.

FLINT HOLD-UP IS LAID TO DILLINGER; LOOT NEAR $30,000

and. "I recognized him by the scar on his face."

Identifies Dillinger

The druggist, who went to the bank on business, also promptly identified Dillinger as the leader of the raiders from a photograph of the desperado shown him by police.

Bank officials were not quite so positive in their identification but said the leader of the band tallied with descriptions given them of Dillinger from general appearance, height and weight.

"I am not familiar with Dillinger's appearance," Harry Staym, bank manager, said, "but descriptions and photographs shown me by police certainly fitted the man who directed the holdup."

Roland had gone into the bank on business, he told police, and had taken a pistol with him, since he expected to bring back a considerable sum of money.

When the thugs entered he attempted to draw his gun.

"Dillinger put his machine gun against my forehead and put his foot on top of mine," Roland said.

Held Machine Gun On Him

"He told me: 'If I feel a muscle move in your foot I'll let you have it.'

"All through the holdup we stood like that—me with my hand reaching back toward my gun pocket, and Dillinger with the machine gun pressed against my forehead, and his foot clamped down on mine.

"I never moved.

"I'm positive it was Dillinger. I looked into his face all the time, the other guy was climbing into the cage and getting the money."

The five thugs, led by the man believed to be Dillinger, drove up to the bank in two cars. One man remained outside in each car, and in one of the cars sat a woman. Each lookout held a machine gun across his lap.

Held For Payrolls

The gang leader took up his position near the bank door, where his machine gun, pressed against Roland's head, still commanded the entire interior of the bank. Eight bank patrons and four employes were forced to lie on the floor while one of the thugs vaulted the cashier's cage and took the loot.

The money—an unusually large sum in cash—was being held at the bank to cash payroll checks for the Chevrolet plant workers.

The license plates used on the two cars were stolen in Detroit, state police said.

All trace of the thugs was lost after they roared out of Flint on Highway M-21, westward toward Grand Rapids. State police said they had a report that the cars later doubled back southeast toward Detroit, but the trail could not be picked up.

(International News Service)

FLINT, Mich., May 18.—Loot in the "John Dillinger" holdup of the Citizens Commercial and Savings bank here today may total $100,000, it was learned from a confidential source.

Adopts Rule To Fix Permissible Air In Ice Cream

New Ruling Of Department Of Agriculture Is Now In Effect

HARRISBURG, May 18.—Standards for ice cream which make unlawful excessive amounts of air used in this product and other similar frozen confections, have been adopted in Pennsylvania and became effective May 15,, according to Dr. James W. Kellogg, director of foods and chemistry, Pennsylvania department of agriculture.

These standards require 1.8 pounds of total food solids in a gallon of ice cream and the gallon must weigh 4.75 pounds, he explains. A quart of ice cream must, therefore, weigh one (1) pound and three (3) ounces and a pint, nine and a half (9½) ounces.

These new regulations were promulgated by Secretary of Agriculture John A. McSparran, after their provisions had been fully agreed to by the Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers of Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Dr. Kellogg pointed out that the standards for butterfat content and total milk solids in ice cream as fixed by the law, will be in effect as heretofore.

TOO MUCH DISGUISE

GOLDEN, Colo.—Richard Neel and Calvin Bruce, ex-convicts from the Colorado penitentiary, carried their efforts to disguise themselves to an extent that made them ludicrous, according to testimony in district court here. They wore imitation false teeth, "made faces", and one of them tried to appear hunchbacked, according to witnesses to a holdup in a grocery store.

ENJOY TEA AT UNION

The Parent-Teacher chapter of Union township high school enjoyed a delightful silver tea in the school's gymnasium last night, and, as preparations had indicated, the affair turned out to be a most successful one with over 50 tables being accommodated .

The tea closed what will go down in Union P. T. A. annals as a most successful and profitable year.

Later in the evening the guests were entertained by a splendid program given by a group of New Castle's well known artists and a group from Union high.

The program enjoyed during the evening follows:

Scout Leaders Will Do Good Turn Acts For Camp Phillips

Band Together Saturday To Make Needed Repairs; Meet At Night

New Castle Boy Scout leaders are taking time out Saturday to do a good turn for the camp according to a statement from Ralph F. Davis, local commissioner. Club President Sid Smith has sent out notices about the meeting, and Davis has planned out what the men might do in helping Camp Phillips get in shape. To this end he has requested the leaders to act as chairmen of various projects. Each chairman may choose any leaders or troop committeemen or older scouts he wishes, to serve in his group, arranging transportation, tools needed etc. The men are bringing a basket supper and will hold their regular monthly meeting afterwards.

Davis's assignments requested are as follows: tennis courts, Jack Hainsworth, chairman: leaders' cabin, Harry Miles, chairman: baseball diamond, Peter Grittie, chairman; barn project, Robert Allen chairman tree trimming or transplanting, Earl Ruby, chairman: waterfront, Sandy Howard, chairman: grounds generally, Sid Smith, chairman; camp cabins, John Wilson, chairman.

Leaders can come at any time on Saturday afternoon: the earlier they start the more can be done before mealtime. Other men may be able to assist in needed electrical chckup and repairs.

BRITISH WOMEN HEAVIER

LONDON—The average British woman traveler weighs eight pounds more than the average foreign woman. This has been discovered thru researches of Imperial Airways. Each passenger, before embarking on an air flight, has to be carefully weighed in order that the total weight of the air liner will not exceed the authorized amount.

Bridges Finally Subdues Yankees

Detroit Pitcher For First Time In His Career Defeats New York Yanks

DODGERS TRIM PIRATES 2 TO 1

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 18—When Tom Bridges beats the Yanks that's news. The slender Detroiter with the best hook in baseball can usually trim the rest of them without working up a good sweat. But never since he broke into the American League has he taken the Yanks until he eased through yesterday, 5 to 4.

It goes to show that a good curve will bring home the bacon sometime if it's thrown often enough. It also goes to show that the Yanks are not going to have the soft picking abroad they had on their home lot where they dropped only one game.

Every Eastern Club in the A. L. dropped their first game in the west. Even the White Sox with old Sam Jones doing his stuff were able to stop the A's, 7 to 2: the Indians slaughtered the punch-drunk Senators 14 to 6 and the Browns came from behind to score all their runs in the eighth and beat the Red Sox 4 to 3.

Hornsby Wins Game

Manager Rajah Hornsby stepped into the breach as a pinch hitter and showed his young men just what should be done or such an occasion by walloping a homer to win the game.

And that other St. Louis manager Frankie Frisch of the Cardinals, also picked the eighth inning in Boston to bring his team from behind by hitting one into the bleachers to down the Braves, 5 to 3.

Chuck Klein, celebrated his return to his old stamping grounds in Philadelphia by blasting his 10th and 11th homers over that handy right field fence.

Dodgers Trip Pirates

Casey Stengel trotted out his entire pitching staff in the person of Young Mungo to take a 10 inning affair from the priates, 2 to 1. Mungo and Swift each gave only seven hits but the latter lost when his catcher threw wild to first trying to complete a double play.

I had almost forgotten to mention the Reds and at that it might be kinder never to mention them. However, the truth must out so here goes: Giants 6, Reds 3. Fat Freddy Fitzsimmons helped his own cause with a homer but the Reds helped him even more with their misuses.

Boro A. C. Tops Slovaks 6 To 5

Boro A. C. baseball team handed the Slovak A. C a 6 to 5 upset last night in a postponed American league Independent battle at the Boro field. The game was decided in the last of the sixth when the Boros secured the winning run on bunched hits. Di Muccio and Teimpolio combined to hurl a four-hit game for the Boros with the Boro having eight hits off of Kirol and Spud. Zidow had the longest hit of the game a triple.

E. S. Merchants Trip Radiators

Wignall Trophy Is Presented To Radiators Prior To Start Of Game

With proper attendant ceremonies the 1933 champions of the New Castle softball league were given the handsome William Wignall Trophy last night at the Radiator Field by the donor William Wignall, and the Radiators became too absorbed in the trophy and not enough in the ball game at hand and lost to the East Side Merchants 5 to 4.

Dweyer had the pitching job for the East Side Merchants and was going good until the last of the eighth when the Rads got two runs. He was relieved by Jack Llewellyn who stopped the Rads rally. The Merchants chased Pezzone, and Michaels from the box and were stopped by Mauri. The Merchants played a fine game in the field sparkling plays by Keder and Craig. Nickie Ross featured for the Rads with several fine running catches of hard hit balls.

C. P. Walther, president of the Lawrence County Softball league introduced William Wignall to the crowd and Mr. Wignall presented the trophy to R. W. Bolsinger, chief clerk at the Radiator Works. A fine crowd witnessed the game. Riley and Mills handled a fine game as umpires.

Three "Natural" Games Saturday

There will be three classy games in the Lawrence County league Saturday afternoon as the six rivals are paired off in three "naturals."

The West Side will journey to Bessemer, West Pittsburg will play Mahoning at Mahoning, and Polish Nationals will tackle Hillsville at Hillsville.

The West Side and Bessemer have been bitter rivals for years and West Pittsburg hopes to send the Mahoning Cangeymen into the defeat column.

Accessories, Tires, Parts

ONE of Frank (Fleetwing) Dewberry's boys got a driver's license last week and he came in yesterday morning at 2 a. m. and told his mother, who was waiting up for him, that he had wrecked the family Ford. It was a bum alibi for Frank looked the Ford over today and all that was wrecked was the Fleetwing gasoline, which was not only wrecked but missing. But such is life. You didy them, cater to them, worry over them and watch over them and it is a pleasure to do it. What if one of the boys does use a tank of gas? Frank has plenty of it. 1t—6

No Particular Pressure On List As Whole Through Profit-Taking Activity

UTILITY STOCKS APPEAR FIRM

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 18.—Profit taking made its appearance in the stock market today induced by yesterday's comparatively sharp run-up. There was no particular pressure on the list as a whole, though, and offerings were absorbed in fairly good style.

Offerings were particularly noticeable in the silver shares where United States smelting, American smelting and a number of others suffered losses running to a point.

The motor shares also met with offerings and General Motors and Chrysler yielded fractions.

The commodity markets also were inclined to work lower. Reports of further scattered rains brought some liquidation into wheat resulting in losses running to more than a cent a bushel. Cotton dipped about 25 cents a bale.

Railroad shares were mixed but the losses here were fairly well offset by gains. Union Pacific, after several days of heaviness came to life to run up about 2 points as did Atlantic Coast Line.

The utility stocks were firm with American Telephone getting up nearly a point to the best levels of the current recovery.

Easiness in wheat was an adverse influence on the farm implement shares where Case and International Harvester ruled lower. Mechandising and mail order shares were quiet. United States Steel and the other industrials were a shade lower.

Drive Improves For Thursday

Total In Annual Community Chest Drive Is $7,000 With 2 Days To Go

ELLWOOD CITY, May 18.—A decided daily improvement has marked the annual Community Chest Drive in Ellwood City during this week. Yesterday the amount took a $3000 jump over the previous day to make the total in the chest $7,000. This yet leaves $15,500 to raise in the next two days for the drive to reach its quota.

It is evident that something drastic will have to occur if the drive is to go over the top by Saturday night. The reports have been coming entirely too slow into headquarters, it was announced today by General Chairman Michael Edlemen.

In talks on the Central School lawn the Rev. Fr. R. D. A. Wilkey, Paul Cartwright, and Chairman Edleman, made stirring pleas to the public to give liberal and loyal support to this worthy cause. The drive must go over the top if the city is to be able to take care of its own institutions and needy this winter.

ELLWOOD CITY, May 18.—As a courtesy to Miss Mary Hughes, who is to become the bride of John Newman tomorrow, Miss Lena White entertained a number of friends at the hostess' house on Thursday evening.

The hours were whiled around three tables of 500, with the score awards at the conclusion going to Miss Rose Reid and Miss Anna Marie Smith. A dainty luncheon was served later at tables centered with lighted tapers and spring blossoms. The honor guest received a shower of gifts at this time, much to her amazement.

Kensington Club Has Fine Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, May 18.—Mrs. W. D. Porter was hostess to the Priscella Kensington club Thursday afternoon at her home on Fourth street. A pink and white color scheme and floral appointments were used as decorations.
